State, county OK regional system

Sewer plan has backing

By JIM BUSH

ROMULUS taxpayers could be the beneficiaries of a dramatic change in their community at virtually no direct cost to themselves. See story on Page A-3.

LANSING — The long-stalled plans for a regional sewer system for Western Wayne communities in the Huron River Valley got a kick off dead center last Friday, when the Michigan Water Resources Commission adopted a proposal finally backed by the Wayne County Road Commission.

In its decision, the commission bypassed another alternative facing it—to ban new sewer hookups throughout the affected area, thereby ending all new construction, until the 16 localities reach their own decision on a new system. Commission executive secretary W. G. Turney said the action, coming with the blessing of the road commission, is the most positive step taken—in addition to a 1975 feasibility study—since efforts began 10 years ago toward development of a municipal wastewater system for the 438 square miles involved. Since 1965, sewage from municipal treatment plants entering the Huron

Washtenaw sewage still poses threat

By JIM CARAVALLAH
Roman Staff Writer

Though the "break" in the deadlock over finding a workable sewage treatment plan for western and southern Wayne County and southwestern Oakland County allays some fears for area communities, the battle over the drain plan also has left some wounds.

Area officials may be able to breathe a sigh of relief with the ruling by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) and the agreement of the Wayne County Road Commission that a plan involving Wayne and Oakland counties in sewage treatment plans will not hurt economic growth in the area.

But, at the same time, they are bitter, since the DNR ruling still leaves Wayne County "wallowing in Washtenaw County's treated waste" in one official's words.

The "break" in the deadlock over the sewage treatment plan ended a recent threat that economic development in local communities could be halted by state action unless a workable proposal for increasing sewage treatment facilities was agreed to by all communities.

Only last week, officials in Romulus, Belleville and Van Buren Township received notice that the DNR was considering a moratorium which could have been implemented early next year to cope with the void in treatment facilities in those communities.

Should development have been halted by state action, growth calculated at $1 million per month in Romulus and Van Buren, and rejuvenation sparked by Belleville's recent downtown urban renewal construction would have been ended.

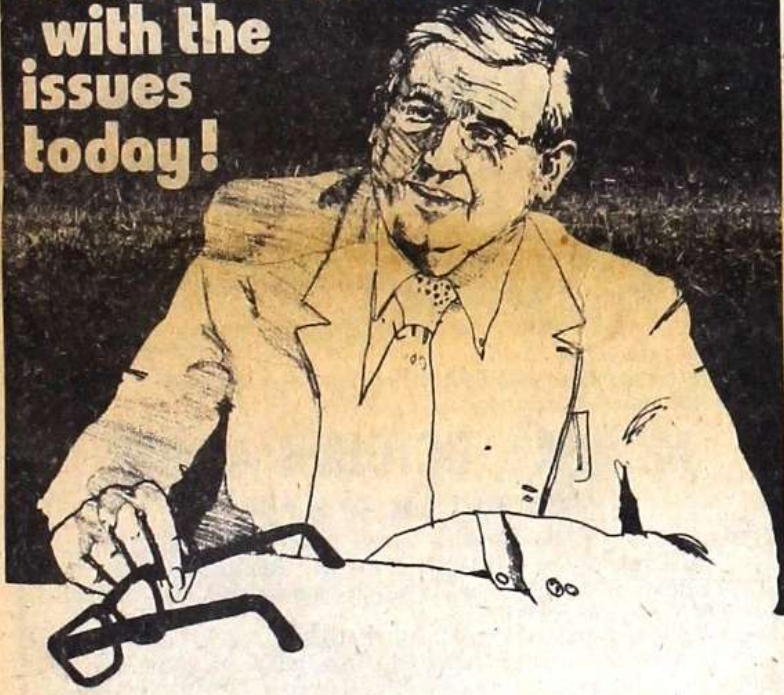

All three communities were enjoying increased construction following a nearly three year economic slump in Michigan caused by lack of capital for construction, rising utility costs and high interest rates on money borrowed for funding new construction.

Halting that construction would have doubled the "pain" inflicted on the three communities since a ruling of the Michigan Water Resources Commission—an agency overseen by the DNR—allows Washtenaw County to drain its treated sewage into Wayne County.

"The DNR was threatening to cut off our growth because we were allegedly in the position to pollute the environment at the same time another agency of the DNR was allowing Washtenaw County to pollute our environment," according to Van Buren Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer.

Advisory group needs citizens

By JIM CARAVALLAH
Roman Staff Writer

Romulus citizens are urged to "get involved" in planning one of the Romulus School District's programs.

An invitation has been extended to citizens to join the Compensatory Education Parents Advisory Council, which has been charged with finding means to improve the compensatory education offerings carried in the district.

Chaired by Richard Campbell, the council is seeking means to fund services for underprivileged children and slow learners through federal and state grant programs.

Currently, the program includes the Head Start instructional program for pre-school youngsters of low income parents and some specialized instruction programs for youngsters in the school system who are not keeping up with others of their age.

The parents' committee has been asked to coordinate the use of local resources with the needs of the compensatory education program.

Better than 35 persons turned out for the initial meeting of the group held earlier this month.

They were divided into four groups and charged with covering such topics as communications, social services, grant programs and parental involvement.

"We're trying to use all community resources in Romulus and surrounding areas to improve the education of Romulus school students," Campbell said. "But we need help."

Though the advisory council itself is made up only of parents whose children may be in need of special compensatory education programs, membership of the council is being expanded by creation of another recommending body consisting of persons interested in education.

"We don't want to limit the programs and their planning only to those parents who are directly involved," Campbell said. "We'd like to use all the expertise available to us in Romulus."

"For that reason, we're extending an open invitation to all persons in Romulus."

Recommendations by the Parents Advisory Council will be forwarded to the Romulus Board of Education for its study and possible action.

The next meeting of the Compensatory Education Parents Advisory Council is scheduled for 7:30 p.m., Oct. 5 at the Barth Road Elementary School in Romulus.

Coffee and donuts will be served in conjunction with the meeting.

Information on the council and its activities can be obtained by calling

Campbell at 941-0218 or Marvin Fisher of the Romulus Board of Education at 941-1600.

Please try to pay your carrier on his (or her) first call. It is discouraging for your carrier to be forced to call back, time after time. Also, your carrier has a deadline in which time the bill must be paid.

If you have any suggestions on how delivery can be improved, inform your carrier at this time.

Vandals play havoc at Harrison School

The Romulus Board of Education hoped that vandals would stay away from Harrison Elementary School, which was closed this year. But, as evidenced in these photos by Romulus Roman Chief Photographer Lothar E. Konietzko, vandals have struck repeatedly and damage already has mounted into the thousands of dollars, according to school officials. The school is located in a relatively isolated area of Romulus just east of the land absorbed for "clear areas" for take-offs and landings at Metropolitan Airport. Destruction has been so complete in some instances, that desks are piled at the doors to keep out intruders who had used a loose pane of glass as a means of entry into the building. In addition, windows are boarded up to keep intruders from doing further damage to the interior of the building. The Harrison facility was surprisingly abandoned late in the summer by the school board in a reversal of plans announced late last spring. Scheduled to be vacated were Romulus and Gordonier elementary schools. The rationale behind the change in plans was that the closing of the Harrison facility would cause less disruption in the district's attendance boundaries than abandonment of the Gordonier school. But the disruption avoided at Gordonier apparently is off-set by the damage inflicted on the 12-year-old Harrison School. School officials have no solution to the problem, other than to inform parents in the district that either their youngsters, or the youngsters of their neighbors, are going to make re-opening the Harrison School more costly in the long run because of the steady destruction to the facility.

Cider and doughnuts offer 'tang' to tours

The mouth-watering duo of cider and doughnuts can provide an extra tang for Michiganders taking a color trip this fall.

"Nothing is more delectable on a fall day when leaves are changing hues than the sweet, tingling taste of freshly pressed cider accompanied by a hot doughnut," said Joseph Ratke, Automobile Club of Michigan touring manager.

Visiting a cider mill and watching the machinery work can be unique and fun-filled entertainment for the whole family.

"Children in particular will delight in seeing the unfermented apple juice being extracted by means of a press and then sample the finished product," Ratke pointed out.

To help motorists plan fall trips which include stops at cider mills, the Auto Club has prepared a map and list of 67 southern Michigan operations.

While fall is the peak time for cider mill operations, many facilities remain open through the winter with some extending seasons into spring until stored apple supplies are exhausted.

"Since many mills operate irregular hours, persons wishing to see pressing operations should telephone ahead before leaving home," Ratke advised.

Visiting a cider mill can be a day-long activity since some of the mills feature such things as horse-drawn wagon rides, flea markets, gift shops and restaurants.

Some mills have orchards where the apples may be picked while others permit customers to bring their own apples for pressing. The best time for picking apples is from early September through October.

Cider mills are most popular on weekends. Travelers can avoid lines by visiting mills on weekdays.

The cost of cider this fall should range from $1.35 to $2.50 per gallon with doughnuts between $1.10 and $1.70 a dozen.

Teen, 13, completes 50 miles

One young Belleville resident felt she could have pedaled another 50 after completing the 50-mile March of Dimes "Super Ride '76" bike-a-thon on Grosse Ile Saturday.

Kimberly Johnson, 13, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Johnson of Borgman Road, Belleville, pedaled her way from the start to the finish line in five hours and 50 minutes in the fund raiser.

The teen-ager, an eighth grade student at North Junior High School, filled three sponsor sheets with 75 names for donations of 5 and 10 cents per mile to raise $250 for the charitable organization.

Motorhome bandits called 'scum'

Ex-official denounces vandalism

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Enterprise Staff Writer

A Van Buren Township man has assailed the robbers who broke into a crippled Vietnam Veterans' motorhome last week as "scum."

"I can't believe the kind of people who would prey on disabled Vietnam veterans for whatever reason," said Ralph Hedman, a former township official and a veterans' organization activist.

"Last week, these scum broke into a motorhome which is the only means of transportation for a quadriplegic veteran and tore the thing apart," Hedman said.

According to Hedman, vandals broke into a motor home purchased by the parents of Philip Cole to transport the veteran on trips throughout the United States.

"Everyone in the township knows that Cole was badly wounded in the war, losing the use of both arms and legs, and being confined to a wheelchair after being injured severely in the spine," Hedman said. "And most people know where Cole lives."

"But this is the second time that the motorhome parked outside his house was broken into and vandalized, probably in the search of something of value."

According to Hedman, Cole must remain in a prone position for long periods of time to prevent skin problems which occur when he is seated in a wheelchair for extended periods.

"For that reason, he hasn't been allowed to travel any distance, until this motor home, which is stocked with medical supplies needed for the wounded veteran's care, was purchased by his parents."

"Just last winter, the man was able to take his first trip in six years to the southwestern United States. "But once again, he's confined to home until the motor home is repaired."

According to Hedman, Cole needs constant care for his injuries, which are so severe that he is only able to move his head slightly.

"The man gave about as much as anyone could for his country, and still, there are people around who will take advantage of his infirmities and prey on him for their own profit," Hedman said.

Hedman said he is convinced that the person or persons who committed the crime against Cole and his parents are "local".

"For instance, some of the medical supplies needed to care for his wounds are stored in the motor home," Hedman said. "Whoever broke into the vehicle threw those supplies all over the place. It was strictly spite."

Romulus may change at no cost to citizens

By JIM CARRAVALLAH
Roman Staff Writer

Romulus taxpayers may notice a dramatic change in their community at virtually no direct cost to themselves if the city's federal programs coordinator receives the funds he wants from a recently passed federal public works program.

Included in a nearly $4 million "shopping list" of programs designed to improve living conditions in Romulus is a paving program for 20 miles of roads, construction of two new buildings and development of a new park.

The road project, estimated to be $2 million of the total money request, would be the most dramatic development growing out of the public works program.

Continuing a program started in 1974, the paving project would see the resurfacing for hardtopping of some 20 miles of city roads, including virtually all roads in the Ecorse Subdivision near Ecorse and Middlebelt roads.

Other roads included in the program are Harrison, Hildebrandt, Merriman, Wahrman, Northline, Wick, Tobine, Goddard, Huron River Drive, Barth and Tyler.

In addition, 18 intersections in the city, mostly located north of I-94, are slated for reconstruction.

According to Steve Bonezek, Romulus federal programs coordinator, the paving plan would "provide tremendous growth potential in the city, ultimately enhancing the assessed values of the community and reducing the overall tax load on citizens at large."

For the most part, the road paving portion of the program will see major city streets lying on the perimeter of the Metropolitan Airport hard surfaced or resurfaced.

Those roads generally front on large tracts of developable land in the community.

Cost estimates include $90,000 to upgrade the intersections to standards set by the Wayne County Road Commission, and another $1.94 million for the hard surfacing of roads in the community.

...the paving plan would provide tremendous growth potential'...

The other developments proposed under the program, though they will not have as direct an impact on the community as the roads, will see an improvement in the city's civic center complex, fire protection in the southeastern section of the city and park development in the same section.

A proposed $1.3 million will be needed to construct a new 34th District Court facility designed to replace the existing building on Eureka Road just west of Middlebelt Road.

The new court building will be built behind the Romulus Public Library and the Romulus City Hall

City 'growth' tops $1 million

Romulus officials report just under $1 million in new construction in the city during the month of August.

The building department for the city reports that residential construction accounted for $247,836 of the city's August building total, or 25 percent of the monthly tally.

The remaining construction was accounted for in garages, commercial buildings and industrial buildings.

The garage construction total for the month came to $22,196, or 2.2 percent of the monthly construction total.

Commercial construction, consisting of a McDonald restaurant, covered $150,000 of the total construction, or 15.1 percent of all construction during the month.

Industrial construction covered $546,000 of the monthly total, or 55.1 percent of all assessed value growth in Romulus.

Also included were two signs, valued at $300 and a fence, valued at $300.

Twenty-four trailer pads, valued at $24,000, or 2.4-percent of the community's increase in assessed value, also were reported under construction.

Some 278 permits for construction were issued during the month, including seven soil erosion permits, 18 grading permits, 21 city certificates, six re-inspection fee permits, 52 miscellaneous permits, 12 heating permits, four heating registrations and licenses, 72 electrical permits and 17 electrical licenses, six refrigeration permits and four refrigeration licenses, 20 plumbing permits and nine plumbing licenses and 82 building permits.

Fees for building permits came to a total of $4,516 for the month, while those for construction covered $9,022 in fees.

This month's report shows a $723,227 increase in construction value over the same period in 1975 with permit fees on that construction increasing $7,144 over the same period in 1975.

near Wayne and Goddard roads.

Funding of the building will be shared by Romulus and four other communities involved in the court's operation—Belleville and Van Buren, Huron, and Sumpter townships.

Construction of the court building would finalize a program first conceived in 1974.

A fire station also is being planned near the Middlebelt-Eureka area to serve the fast developing southeastern portion of the community.

The new station, to be constructed at an estimated cost of $375,000, would replace an old facility lying adjacent to the existing 34th District Court building on Eureka Road.

Plans for construction of the station were first announced in 1974, when it became apparent that the fire facility on the city's southern side would be absorbed by airport expansion.

The final portion of the four-part program is a request for some $200,000 for the construction of a new park near the Hale Creek Elementary School east of Middlebelt and south of Eureka Road.

First proposed in 1974, the park is designed to serve citizens of the city's fastest-growing area, including the Meadows Subdivision and some new single family home developments in the area.

The park, according to Bonezek, is designed to serve some 2,300 persons living within a half-mile radius.

However, the grants administrator said the park request may be the weakest item on the city's list of requests because park funds may be available through recreation grants.

The bill which would provide the funds for the construction requests lies on President Gerald R. Ford's desk in Washington, awaiting action. Some $150 million of the bill's allotment is to be sent to Michigan.

Local officials are hoping that the bill is signed soon to allow a start on construction of the projects before the winter frost prohibits outside activity.

Regional sewage system has state, county backing

River from the involved Washtenaw-south Oakland-west Wayne area has increased 73 percent, well in excess of capacity for several of the existing plants.

"This action today indicates, I think, that the local governments will now move forward on the system in good faith," Turney said.

Mike Zolik, deputy managing director of the road commission, said he and his staff—who are coordinating the regional facility's development—will meet with officials from the state Department of Natural Resources (DNR) this week to draft an application to the federal government for a grant to design the system.

That application, step two in the three-step process leading to the system's completion, was authorized last week by the water commission, which designated that the revised area be included.

Wayne communities included are:

Canton, Romulus, Van Buren, Sumpter, Huron, Brownstown, Plymouth and Northville townships and Trenton, Riverview, Belleville, Gibraltar, Woodhaven, Rockwood, Flat Rock, Plymouth and Northville. Also included are three cities or villages and four townships in Oakland County.

The federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) provides 75 percent of the system's development and construction costs, including preliminary studies and plans. The state pays five percent and local communities pick up the remaining 20 percent.

Total estimated cost of the project, including a now-separated system for southeast Washtenaw County, is about $300 million.

State officials had long been upset with lack of progress on the project, originally designed to include the Washtenaw areas as well in a "supersewer" system. After persistent wrangling, the commission last May let Washtenaw, which was fearful of Wayne County control in a combined system, move out on its own to develop a separate system.

Since then Washtenaw officials have made progress with their system's development, although far west Wayne areas like Belleville and Van Buren Township fear it will mean waste pollution from the Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor areas will end up in their stretch of the Huron River.

However, the 16 Wayne localities, which are supposed to work in cooperation with the county, have been unwilling to agree on further action.

With last week's break in the deadlock, actual construction of a new regional system is still at best several years off and at worst still in doubt, since the road commission as the project's "lead applicant" must still ultimately convince the individual towns and townships to sign contracts to proceed with the plan.

Some areas, such as Canton

Township, are known to be lukewarm to cooperation in a regional effort now, since their sewage disposal needs are for now being met locally. However other areas like Huron Township are crying out for rapid action, since they are already operating well above their treatment capacity levels and are too poor financially to proceed by themselves.

Last week's action does, however, allow for interim help using federal and state money, since construction can begin first in the most deficient areas of waste treatment.

Sewage still poses threat

the capacity to treat their sewage in other plans outside the regional plan, but we would have been lumped together with all communities in Wayne and Oakland counties which were under the threat of the moratorium," he said.

"We weren't polluting the Huron River as the Washtenaw County communities will under the proposal."

Under the Water Resources Commission ruling, the Washtenaw County communities of Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti and Ypsilanti Township will be allowed to continue their operation of two separate treatment facilities which dump treated effluent into the Huron River and Willow Creek.

The Ann Arbor treated waste would flow into the Ypsilanti water system, to be treated again and dumped into Willow Creek, which bisects Van Buren Park and empties into Belleville Lake.

Gollwitzer said there was no way that Wayne County communities could avoid the treated waste that would flow along the shorelines of the Huron River.

"The ruling still stands the potential of ruining recreation in these communities," the supervisor said. "But apparently, we're stuck with it."

New skyline

Belleville's old downtown business district won't look the same in a couple of months when the new National Bank of Detroit Branch office, under construction at Main and High streets in the city, is completed. The bank facility is starting to resemble a building with the erection of walls and the completion of a new bank vault. The branch office has been cited as a "catalyst" for development in the city's downtown area.—ANP photo.

Picnic funtime

When picnickers get together in one spot there's bound to be fun and games, and that proved to be the case when participants in the Romulus Recreation Department's summer fun program gathered at Willow Metropark near New Boston for a farewell to summer picnic. The youngsters tested their skills in such traditional picnic events as the tug-of-war and sack races as well as other events.—Photos by ANP Chief Photographer Lothar E. Konietzko.

Fem war workers needed

The memories of female Western Wayne County workers may hold the answers to some historical questions being asked by a group of researcher-filmmakers visiting Detroit this week.

The group—known as the Women's Labor History Film Project—is making a documentary on the history of American working women from the 1930s to the 1970s, with one of the topics of the film centering on the experiences of those women in metropolitan Detroit who were forced to leave high-paying defense jobs at the conclusion of World War II.

Women who worked at the Briggs plants, Chevrolet Highland Park Plant and Willow Run Plant are being sought by Film Project. The filmmakers especially are interested in those women who protested the loss of jobs by, for example, marching in picket lines or writing letters.

Historians of late have discovered that a majority of women laid off in 1944-45 were themselves heads of households, needing well-paying jobs to support their families, a contradiction to the belief that many worked out of patriotism or to tide the family over until a spouse returned from the war, a spokesman for the film group said.

Film Project is seeking to document these facts by interviewing women whose personal experiences in the 1940s support historians' new findings, the spokesman added.

Persons interested in helping the group locate some of the women factory workers can contact the project's Detroit representative, Bill Bryce, at 883-2339, or Lynn Goldfarb at 823-3929.

The film the group is producing is entitled "Overworked and Underpaid: Histories of American Working Women".

In anti-crime measure

County adds 38 law officers to roster

Public Safety and crime prevention in Wayne County has been strengthened with 38 additional law officers, plus an appropriation of more than $150,000 for criminal detention facilities and other anti-crime measures that have all approved by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

Included in the personnel additions are six sheriff's deputies who will enable 24-hour 7-day security at the County Youth Home and Juvenile Court complex that is facing an increased caseload since the recent police crackdown on youth gangs in Detroit.

Juveniles who are guilty of felonies are being brought to the court rather than being released back into the community, as was the previous practice.

The commissioners approved the six deputies by unanimous vote, which authorized $39,490 for temporary costs through the end of the fiscal year, ending Nov. 30.

Also in the personnel appropriation was $109,800 for 32 additional sheriff's positions at the Detroit House of Corrections (DeHoCo), part of which houses county jail inmates in excess of a 720 limit imposed by a Wayne County Circuit Court order.

In appropriating these funds at their meeting Sept. 21, the commissioners specified provision for 28 patrolmen and four sergeants for supervision to cover three barracks that the county is using while plans are underway to construct a new Wayne County Jail.

Another action at the same meeting provided an additional $28,900 for other operating expenses at DeHoCo above salaries.

Also in relation to the jail and public safety was a $125,264 appropriation for unexpected expenditures considered necessary to complete renovation of M Building at Wayne County General Hospital which also will be used as a temporary detention facility while the proposed new jail is being developed.

Another decision by the commissioners authorized the jail architects to prepare plans in a manner that will allow construction to begin immediately after first-floor schematic drawings are completed for the planned 7-story structure.

Commissioner Samuel A. Turner (D-Detroit) is the sponsor of a resolution that the board approved which asks that "construction of the jail should start when final plans for foundation for the first floor are completed and approved".

Turner, the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, in the resolution said construction time could be reduced by several months by organizing the project in various construction stages.

The commissioners also approved a change in the proposed jail cell size, from 52 square feet to 72 square feet, a difference that was recommended by both the designing architectural firm and the State Department of Corrections.

In addition, the extra space will satisfy building requirements of the Detroit Housing Code, will not incur more cost, and is regarded as a more humane consideration.

Architects of the new jail, Giffels-Sims-Vanner-Shorter, said the change in space will enhance the welfare of the inmates and will not require additional security personnel.

To perform

Musical evangelists Larry and Jeanette Rudder will present a musical concert at 6 p.m. Sunday at the Bethany Baptist Church of Belleville. The Rudders, who have traveled throughout the United States, use gospel magic and puppet ministry for the children in their musical format. The program is both evangelistic and devotional, a church spokesman said, adding that the Rudders emphasize the need for a deeper spiritual commitment to Christ. The church is located at 810 E. Huron River Drive, Belleville.

Campaigner backs bloodmobile visit

Some citizens will say that a political campaign is a good mixture of blood and guts, but one candidate in Van Buren Township is using the "blood" side of the campaign to her benefit.

A Red Cross bloodmobile will be stationed outside the headquarters of Van Buren Township Democratic Supervisor Candidate Pat Cullin.

The bloodmobile will be on station between 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. Friday near the old Belleville Secretary of State's office at High Street and Huron River Drive in Belleville.

Persons interested in donating blood can either stop by the bloodmobile, or make an appointment by filling out a card available at the Cullin Headquarters.

Those who donate blood can either donate into a bank to which they belong or start their own bloodbank.

County district sets free meals, milk guidelines

New, more liberal guidelines, qualifying children for free and reduced price school lunches have been set up by the Wayne County Intermediate School District.

The new rules apply to all students in public and non-public schools and children in schools operated by a residential child care institution.

Eligibility for free lunches, free milk or reduced meals is determined by family size and income. For instance, a family of four with an income of $7,130 annually qualifies for free lunches. If the same family's income is from $7,131 to $11,110, the children can receive reduced price meals, costing not more than 20 cents each.

Some families whose income is higher than specified still may qualify for free meals, if they have high medical bills, disaster or casualty losses or shelter costs in excess of 30 percent of their income. Exact information on that can be obtained from local school districts.

Families of workers on strike also can qualify, after they received their last paycheck, if the total income including unemployment compensation and supplemental unemployment benefits (SUB) falls within the guidelines.

Evangelist holds revival meetings

Evangelist Bill Rice III is conducting evening revival meetings through Friday at the Calvary Baptist Church of Ypsilanti.

The services are at 7 p.m. each evening at the church, located at 1007 Ecorse Road.

Rice, who comes from a family of evangelists, has traveled extensively with his father, Dr. Bill Rice, throughout the United States and Canada.

A 1966 graduate of Bob Jones

University with a major in the Bible, Rice lives at the Bill Rice Ranch in Middle, Tenn., the home of Cumberland, reportedly the largest missionary work site for the deaf.

According to Roger A. Mills, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, the nightly services are open to the public. A staffed nursery and special music will be provided each night, as well as an interpretation of the service for the deaf by Rice's wife, Nancy.

Townships struggle to keep police

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners and the Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol are making it increasingly difficult for Wayne County townships to police themselves.

While the board of commissioners has chosen to cut back on its former state-given duty of assigning sheriff's units to patrol townships in return for township taxes, the sheriff's department has begun ignoring township police auxiliaries, questioning the training of their members.

As Panax sees it

An open letter to Mayor Young

This is an open letter to Coleman Young, mayor of Detroit.

Dear Mayor:

During the past six weeks you have denounced the news media for its coverage of Detroit's crime problem.

Since Panax Newspapers is the only unit in the media we know of that has called for your removal we want to tell you why.

The media — national, state and local — has only reported what is going on in your city. Some have been more sympathetic than others. Some have been more harsh than sympathetic. But none of the reporting has been either untruthful or undeserved.

You were elected on an anti-police platform. You would dismantle STRESS, you said, and you did. You would make the police force more professional, you said. You didn't exactly define professional so there's no way of figuring out whether what you did to the police force accomplished that goal.

But the situation in Detroit has gotten worse, not better, for those who pay the bills. And that applies whether they are black or white.

For nearly two years you have been saying you could do little or nothing about the situation in Detroit unless you got more money.

One of your schemes was and is to increase the city income tax on the thousands of suburban residents who must earn their living in an office or factory located within the Detroit city limits.

They already are paying for protection in your city. You overlook their big question:

If the estimated $10 million a year they're already paying you doesn't make Detroit any safer for them than it is today, what good would it do to give you more?

Certainly, Detroit isn't as safe today as it was in the years immediately after Jerry Cavanagh got that tax imposed.

It is the safety of these thousands of unrepresented suburban taxpayers we are concerned for.

We don't think they should be the whipping boy for the failures of Detroit.

Failures of which we believe you have become the symbol — justly or unjustly.

There is only one place for a tarnished symbol.

Far back on the shelf.

—A Southeast Michigan Panax Editorial

The latter development has particularly frustrated township officials because the police auxiliaries originally were formed to cope with a lack of law enforcement protection.

Both Canton and Van Buren Townships find themselves caught smack dab in the middle of a political cross-fire.

In the case of Canton, a police reserve unit formed earlier this year has never earned the recognition of the sheriff's department.

The situation in Van Buren can be described in only one way: Incredible. After 10 years of operation—the past two or three years with the full cooperation of the Sheriff's road patrol—the Van Buren police auxiliary suddenly finds itself stripped of recognition.

The question of recognition for the Canton force is somewhat understandable, since the sheriff has traditionally refused to cooperate with largely volunteer forces in townships until they've "proven" themselves under fire.

But that makes the Van Buren situation a bit more perplexing. It wasn't a month ago that Van Buren officials met with the sheriff to detail their concerns that the sheriff was relying on the Van Buren force too much for police protection.

According to Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer, the fear was that the sheriff chose to ignore some of the problems in Van Buren, content that the Van Buren force was well enough equipped to handle an emergency without the direct aid of the sheriff's road patrol.

The theory on the part of Van Buren officials was that the sheriff felt secure enough with the Van Buren force to divert sheriff's patrols to the communities without their own auxiliary forces.

Sheriff's officers said this wasn't true, stating that Van Buren would not receive as much attention as it would normally expect because of the increase in crime throughout the county.

Drug rehabilitation tortuous

By RUSS TUTTLE
Director, Community Relations;
Peoples Community Hospital Authority

"I've seen them in all shapes and sizes, so completely disoriented that it was next to impossible to get from them any useful information in our attempts medically to bring them back to the real world."

That statement was made by a nurse in the Annapolis Hospital emergency room as she discussed the local drug scene as she is exposed to it.

"It's very frustrating," she said, "but because we are here to serve the sick we would like to get a little help from the victim or the victim's parents."

"But like alcohol abusers, drug users refuse to admit there is any problem."

"This hospital is not a police station," a staff physician said, "so once we get them stabilized, about all we can do is release them to their parents and wait for their next emergency visit."

"And hopefully they won't come back DOA, which has indeed happened."

We talked with a former heroin addict who is now on a special maintenance program.

"Your doctor is right," he said, "they really do care and they really do try to help. But, getting a dude away from his dope is not all that easy."

"There are too many pressures in this world over which we have little control, and besides, most dopes figure that the only ones they are hurting are themselves, so why should all the squares get so uptight?"

While that kind of rationale is clearly self-serving, and pathetically so, it seems to agree with the thesis that substance abuse is only the symptom of something else.

When asked how big his habit was, the ex-user said, "As big as I could afford. You read where a dope has a $50 or $100 a day habit. Well, the truth of the matter is you'll shoot up as much as you can get."

And, the major source of income for addicts comes from stealing from cars and homes. Tragically, some of the younger female addicts support their habit through prostitution and as 'stars' in pornographic movies.

"Man, when I was deeply involved, there wasn't anything I wouldn't do to get bread for a fix," the ex-junkie said. "When you are hooked and shooting up, you ain't got no dignity. All you got is your dream world and your dope until the man comes to take you off (arrest by a police officer)."

Most addicts will admit that once they are hooked, their drugs become the most important thing in their lives. Their total existence is one directed only toward getting that next fix so that they do not get sick from going through withdrawal.

Obviously, then, they are in constant trouble with their family, their employer (if they still have a job), and they are always anticipating the inevitable arrest by the police.

"When you're hooked, you spend an awful lot of time looking over your shoulder," the ex-user said. "Then you worry that your source might get taken off, and you got to have that dope."

"It's a bad scene. There are those times when you wish you were dead. You almost hope you get a 'hot shot' (an overdose). You don't really care any more, but for some strange reason you don't have the courage to do yourself in."

"And maybe that's a clue to a dope's mentality. You are so screwed up and unable to cope, that you even want some one else to help you commit suicide."

Rehabilitation is possible, but it's a long, and almost tortuous, process.

A user can be gradually withdrawn, and his physical condition stabilized. But that is only part of the struggle in that rehabilitation means total change — economic, social, psychological, and vocational.

A hospital can help with the former, but society as a whole must make the major input to the later.

Graduated income tax proposal called 'brazen attempt to bamboozle voters'

By HARRY R. HALL
Retired President
Michigan State Chamber of Commerce

... The sponsors do not have the honesty to call this an income tax. They try to hoodwink the voters by labeling it as a 'luxury tax'...

text to learn that it says, "The prohibition of an income tax with a variable rate or base is eliminated."

This proposal is full of hypocrisy at a highly organized level. It is the most brazen attempt to bamboozle the voting public that I have observed in more than 30 years as an advocacy organization executive. The public should be aware of the guileful tactics employed to get it on the ballot as well as the consequences of the proposal if it should be approved by some unfortunate circumstance.

This issue is being presented to the voters without the certification of the Board of State Canvassers. The Michigan Court of Appeals made the baffling decision to allow a vote at Another proposal for a graduated income tax will be on the ballot on November 2. On two separate occasions in recent years Michigan voters have rejected, by sizable margins, this form of taxation. At each of these elections the issue was clear cut. The language was simple. The proposal was void of deception or confusion. Voters knew that they were voting on a proposal to amend the constitution to allow the legislature to impose a graduated income tax. They disapproved. That part of the constitution prohibiting the tax remained intact.

This latest proposal, identified on the ballot as Proposal D, poses an entirely different problem. This year, sponsors have devised a more subtle, though less honest, approach. It is designed to delude voters, not to inform them. This Proposal D is not presented to the voters as a straight-forward constitutional amendment to Article IX, Section 7, which now prohibits a graduated income tax, although that is the primary purpose of the issue. It is being heralded as "The Fair Share Plan"—as the "Roll Back The Michigan Income Tax" plan—as a "Cut The Michigan Income Tax" plan. It is necessary to read the fine print buried in the middle of the long this election. Counsel for seven complainants presented detailed documentary evidence to the Board of Canvassers outlining a series of irregularities that cast the shadow of illegality on all the petitions. Numerous discrepancies were disclosed as a result of a sampling by a certified public accountant. These complaints were shown to be contrary to Michigan law.

The voting public has a right to question the motives and the plot of the sponsors of this proposal. In my opinion, voters of all political faiths should feel insulted to be considered so stupid that they would not see through this facade. Example of a few of the tricks to fool them will illustrate the point. As Plautus said, "Forewarned is forearmed."

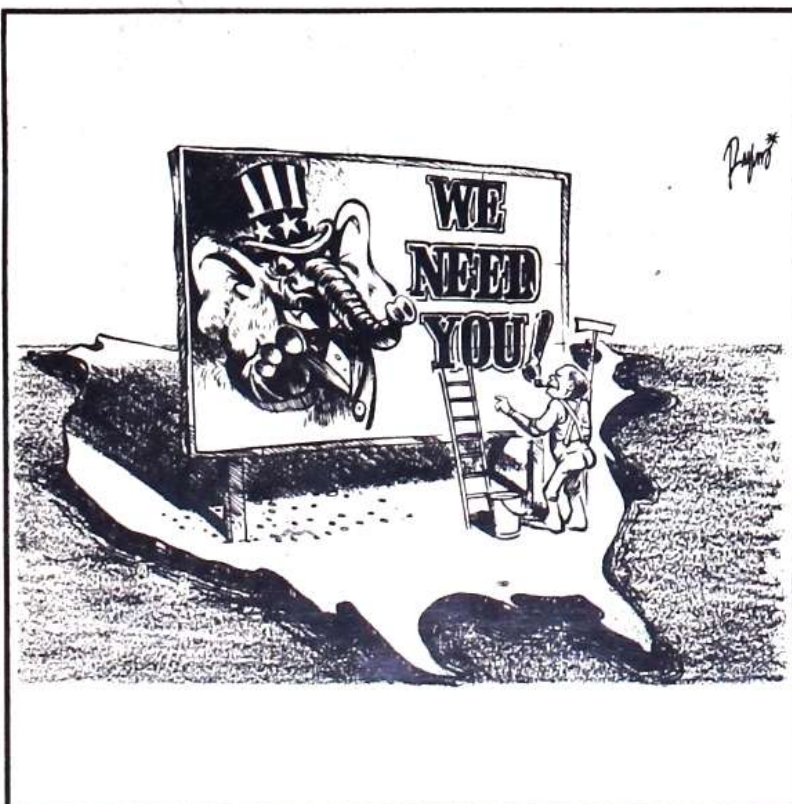

The front for getting signatures on petitions was The Michigan Citizens' Lobby. Just what or how many citizens this organization represents is uncertain. I suggest not many ordinary citizens. This is the same organized front that placed the exemption of carry out food and prescription drugs on the ballot through initiative petition with the promise that no new replacement tax would be enacted. When the legislature, through necessity, increased the income tax to meet commitments, the so-called Citizens' Lobby remained strangely silent. Not one word of protest was heard.

Now this same group is hustling this Proposal D as a Roll Back of the Income Tax from 4.6 percent to 3.9 percent for incomes of $20,000 or less. The decrease is the identical amount of the previous increase made necessary by their actions then. Again the self-proclaimed citizens' lobby is silent about a catch in this tax cut. They fail to point out in their publicity that the decrease is for one year only. That is found in the small print too. After one year from the effective date of the amendment, the legislature would be authorized to impose any rate on any base on all taxpayers. The tax cut idea is nothing more than bait to get approval for removing constitutional restraints on the graduated income tax.

Also, taxpayers are reminded that the lost revenues from the one-year temporary roll back would be replaced by graduated tax with no limits on degree of graduation on the rest of the victimized public. The sponsors do not have the honesty to call this an income tax. They try to hoodwink the voters by labeling it as a "luxury tax". Side show pitchmen at the traveling carnival would seldom stoop to such a sham.

If this whole scheme were not so arrogant and the implications not so serious it would be a joke. The ensuing laughter in this case should express the same derision the sponsors have displayed toward the intelligence of the mass of citizens of the state. If the majority of the taxpayers want a graduated income tax that is their privilege. They should know what they are getting and not be duped into thinking they are getting a tax cut and nothing else.

Riegle owes voters an explanation

In the wake of the Johnson years and Watergate, Wilbur Mills and Wayne Hays, the personal morality and integrity of political officeholders has taken much of the spotlight.

Those seeking political office are being asked to be much more accountable for their personal actions than in the past as people have decided a candidate's private morality has a bearing on the way he conducts his office. The public is no longer willing to look the other way at personal shortcomings.

It is in this context that recent disclosures about Congressman Donald Riegle's handling of a federal income tax refund intended for both he and his former wife has come to public attention. On first look, the facts are disturbing.

Riegle signed both his name and his wife's name to a 1971 income tax refund of more than $4,000 and put it in the bank, unbeknownst to his former wife. She found out about it later only by accident, according to the allegations, and eventually was able to get half of it in the divorce

Some things have to be said

John P. McGoff

On the issues

settlement. Neither Riegle nor his ex-wife wants to talk about the incident now, but Riegle has to. He is running for the U. S. Senate and voters have the right to know why he did what he did. His detractors say he appears to have been trying to keep all the money for himself. His supporters say that is not so, that he initialed his wife's name to indicate he had written it and that he only wanted to get the check cashed.

We strongly urge that the appropriate federal law enforcement agency begin an immediate investigation into this matter. The voters of this state need to know, and know quickly, if any federal laws have been violated by Mr. Riegle.

He owes voters an explanation, a full complete explanation, of why he did what he did. It is more than a personal matter, because he is running for the U. S. Senate, one of the most powerful positions in the country, and voters have a right to know what rules govern his personal conduct. If he was being less than straightforward in his handling of the check, it indicates a serious lapse in judgment on his part — a lapse that does not speak well for the way he operates under pressure.

Civil Rights groups losing ground

By PATRICK J. BUCHANAN
New York Times News Service

"Our disenchantment with Mr. Buchanan goes back to his days as a member of the Nixon inner circle. It was during this period when he counseled the administration to abandon the ship of desegregation. Quite frankly, we regard him as a segregationist or at least an apologist for segregation. It is unfortunate that publications...continue to circulate his obviously biased and bigoted viewpoints."

This is the settled judgment of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) as enunciated by NAACP general counsel Nathaniel R. Jones. Mr. Jones tossed his little bouquet my way in a letter on official stationery to a supporter — a copy of which he graciously passed along for my file.

The offending piece which provoked Mr. Jones' summary verdict was written for TV Guide. Generally, it praised a CBS documentary and came down with both feet on forced busing as a failed social policy. That view, however, seems hardly exceptional. Surveys show that five-in-six white Americans, and half the black population, question the wisdom and value of this divisive social policy.

But to a man of Mr. Jones' mindset, to express such an opinion is not simply mistaken, wrong-headed, illogical. It is to mark you as a segregationist, a bigot, an individual whose views should probably be denied access to the marketplace of ideas.

Mr. Jones' censorious paragraph tells us, I believe, something about the current frame of mind, the present condition, of the civil rights movement in America. For this writer knows of no one, in journalism or politics, who argues today for segregation — i.e., the forced separation of the races in schools, housing, jobs, or public accommodations.

No one even near the mainstream of American politics argues for overturning Brown versus the Board of Education, or the Civil Rights Acts of 1964 — which outlawed Jim Crow.

Official segregation is dead, and almost unmentioned, in America. What the middle class is protesting, however, is its live and ugly twin sister, forced integration by federal fiat of housing and neighborhoods and schools. What Americans are protesting with rising voices is a new form of discrimination which declares that some minorities are more equal than others.

"Freedom now" was the battle cry of the civil rights movement of the sixties. Mr. Jones, what does "freedom" have to do with forcing white working-class parents to put their children into a school bus to be shipped half-way across town to an inner-city school, which even the NAACP declares to be inferior and dangerous?

Equality of opportunity was the demand of a decade ago. Right on. But today, the talk is of "quotas." From the NAACP come tortured defenses of practices which discriminate against white working males on the basis of race and sex.

Was this what the civil rights revolution was all about? Replacing the racial preference of Ross Barnett with the racial preference of Nathaniel Jones?

The rumors are that the civil rights organizations are losing adherents, and losing ground. They should be. For many of them are rationalizing, condoning, defending the very discriminatory practices of which black Americans were once primary victims. Many of them have simply abandoned their past ideals to justify doing unto Irish, Italian and Polish-Americans precisely what used to be done, with legal sanction, to working and middle class blacks.

That's your problem, Mr. Jones — not me.

THE GREAT DEBATE

Carter weak when asked to answer in specifics

WASHINGTON — The first formal debate between presidential candidates in 16 years turned out to be a conflict between President Ford stating the case for the productive sector of American society and Jimmy Carter making the case for the non-productive.

Time and again this conflict surfaced. Carter, for example, in response to the first opening question on jobs stressed government programs to help the unemployed. Ford in rebuttal made a point of stressing the private sector or the business sector.

Carter in the second round on taxes hit hard at the rich and implied that lower-income Americans were being ripped off by the rich evading their fair share of the taxes. One of the most pointed Ford responses was when the President reminded the massive TV audience that it was a Democratic-controlled Congress that for over a generation has written those tax laws which Carter complains are a "disgrace."

Carter was at his best and even brilliant when he could attack, but weak when he was called upon to answer in specifics about what he would do regarding a particular problem. When questioned, for example, about reorganizing the federal government, Carter was forced to admit for the first time that his plans would not mean a reduction in the size of the federal government, only a reshaping.

"I can't say we would have fewer employees," he finally confessed.

In terms of impression and image as opposed to issues, Ford clearly emerged the stronger but not enough to be declared the winner. Carter in the first half hour of the debate seemed less composed, hesitant and even nervous. But after the first 30 minutes Carter became more decisive even to the point of being biting. He did, however, his cause no service when replying to Ford's telling attack on Congress and his tying Carter to the Democratic-controlled federal legislature. The former Georgia governor's statement that he would not link Mr. Ford to Nixon if he, Ford, would not hold Carter responsible for the record of the Democratic Congress was a sleazy debater's trick. It undercut what Carter had worked for, with great success: achieving a high-level image of honesty and sincerity. This approach was a rude contrast to Carter's charge against Ford that he was "insensitive" to human beings.

The greatest failure of both candidates was to convey the impression of humor. Combined with an endless recital of facts and figures, the debate at times became downright boring. However, the League of Women Voters deserves the greatest amount of criticism. Its format of formal questions and rebuttals crippled spontaneous humor and any easy give and take that might well have emerged. Instead of using the selected reporters for questioning, they could have been rotated to act as moderator for each segment, and repeated probing questions might have produced a more fluid and less wooden performance of both candidates.

In the end, however, the overriding theme to emerge from the debate was philosophy differences: Ford favoring the productive sector of American society, Carter favoring the non-productive. The summary made this vividly apparent when Carter stressed the theme of making government more open and responsive, Ford stressing the individual and his own private efforts.

The greatest misstatement of fact, if not an outright falsehood, was when Carter contended that "I owe the special interests nothing." The fact is that Carter is in political hock over his head to the union bosses and knows it.

Overall, Carter and Ford in terms of scoring debating points were evenly deadlocked and it was a draw. But in terms of who emerged the more human and just a plain nice guy, the gentleman from Plains, Georgia, lost. Carter came across with an underlying streak of cruelty, a contrast to his word about compassion and concern for human beings.

Years of togetherness marked by parties

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

Recent week-long houseguests of Ted and Marie Wingrove of Fret Road were his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wingrove of Venice, Fla.

While here, the visitors were the surprised guests of honor at a party marking their 60th wedding anniversary. Given by their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wingrove of Ypsilanti, the celebration was held at the Oddfellows Hall in Ypsilanti. Some 100 relatives and friends from Florida, Ohio, Jackson, Adrian, Detroit and other Michigan cities gathered to congratulate the former Ypsilanti couple on their 60 years of togetherness. The senior Mr. Wingrove was with Michigan Bell Telephone for 45 years prior to retiring in 1959. His territory covered the Ypsilanti, Belleville and Willis areas.

The Wingroves have another son, Kenneth of Pompano Beach, Fla., as well as three grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

GOLDEN YEAR MARKED

Mr. and Mrs. Harold D. Smith of 7219 Washington St., Romulus, observed their golden wedding anniversary Sept. 5 at a reception hosted by their two sons, Harold Owen and Gene Arden and their wives, and six grandchildren.

Held at St. John's Episcopal Church in Westland, the party was attended by some 100 relatives and other guests.

Mrs. Smith was Florence Brighton when she spoke her wedding vows on Sept. 4, 1926, at the Wayne Methodist Church. The couple have lived in Wayne and Romulus for many years.

Among the many gifts received by the celebrating pair was a message of congratulations from President and Mrs. Gerald R. Ford.

THEY HAVE A SISTER

Five-year old Andy Hyde and his 3-year-old brother, Timmy, formed the welcoming committee when their mother and new sister arrived home last week from Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti.

The new addition to the family, who was titled "Jennifer Marie", made her debut Sept. 20 and weighed 7 lbs. - 10 ozs. She is the daughter of Kenneth and Carolyn Hyde of 49515 W. Huron River Dr., Belleville, and the 10th grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. George Haft of Belleville.

Mrs. Eleanor Hyde of Belleville is the baby's paternal grandmother.

PARTY IN KENTUCKY

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore G. Hooten and their son, Ted E. Hooten, were in Louisville, Ky. earlier in the month to take part in the 86th birthday celebration of "the Colonel" — Harlan Sanders — of Kentucky fried chicken fame. The gala was held at the Gault House in Louisville Sept. 10.

On Sept. 11, the Colonel and his wife, Claudia, hosted a birthday party for children on board the old paddle wheeler, "The Belle of Louisville." Col. and Mrs. Sanders, whose birthdays fall just a couple days apart, marked the occasions by treating the children to a boat ride, birthday cake, ice cream and lots of soda pop.

Church women compile cookbook

A Bicentennial cookbook featuring several treasured family recipes has been compiled and published by a group of women from Trinity Episcopal Church of Belleville.

"Pass the Plate," which includes numerous recipes for main dishes, side dishes and desserts, is the brain child of Betty Thom of Liberty Street, Belleville. Working with a committee of enthusiastic fellow recipe collectors from the church, Mrs. Thom has compiled a cookbook featuring close to 300 recipes.

Mrs. Thom and her committee began work on their project last February by asking all Trinity Church members to contribute at least one recipe, preferably one that has been a favorite of "grandma's." The outpouring which resulted from that simple request is gathered together in a Bicentennial recipe collection which is a reflection of American's history, its many nationalities and its varied examples of regional cooking.

The book opens with an example of a typical 1776 supper menu followed by other historical recipes from the White House cookbook, circa 1884, and a recipe that dates back some 200 years. That particular recipe was contributed by Mrs. Mary Walls, an octogenarian, whose grandmother, a slave, baked cornmeal cakes in the fields of the deep South.

Many of the recipes include a brief history of the dish.

Practically every section of the United States is represented in "Pass the Plate" with those from foreign nations blended together in America's melting pot to form our country's unique cuisine.

The book's pages are enlivened with whimsical illustrations drawn by Mrs. Thom and Mrs. Emmy Keene. Interspersed with the recipes are helpful cooking hints, bits of folklore and words of wisdom that probably only a woman can appreciate.

In submitting their recipes and telling of their family traditions, contributors stirred in, along with the sugar and spice, a bit of love and nostalgia.

A limited number of copies of "Pass the Plate" are for sale. Priced at $3.75 each, book orders may be placed by calling the church office at 699-3361 on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday between 12 noon and 3 p.m.

Mrs. Thomas was assisted in the compilation of the book by Lee Lunde, Barb McKenzie, Barb Story, Norine Jones, Deb Schmitz, Emmy Keene, Jeane Wilson and Lydia Scothorn.

Hurrah for Belleville

Belleville High School cheerleaders were among those participating in the U.S. Cheerleading Association's Camp at Walden Woods near Hartland, Mich. Aug. 15-18. The Junior Varsity Squad (from left) Lisa Collins, Kathi Klonaris, Eve Boyd and Jody St. Andre, won the Team Improvement Trophy in the National Championships. They also won three second place and two third place ribbons and one fourth place and one pom pon routine ribbon which they hold.

Cheerleaders win awards at camp

The U. S. Cheerleading Association's Camp at Walden Woods near Hartland included both squads from Belleville High School — the varsity and junior varsity groups.

The senior squad consisting of co-captains, Sheila Thurman and Lisa Chen; Val Ford, Gina Mickels and Divi Thompson won the fourth place team trophy in the Nationals. They also took five fifth place ribbons, one fourth place ribbon and a group routine ribbon.

Lisa Chen garnered an Individual Talent Trophy for the beautiful water color she had painted.

The varsity squad then went on to the Grand Nationals in Lansing. Although they failed to place in the top 20, they have the honor of saying they at least were good enough to compete in the Nationals.

The junior varsity squad comprised of Lisa Collins, Kathi Klonaris, Eve Boyd and Jody St. Andre captured the Team Improvement Trophy in the National Championships. Their ribbon collection now includes three for second place, two for third, one for fourth and one for their pom pon routine.

Home Arts Club opens new season

The Home Arts Club of Belleville held its opening meeting of the season Sept. 13 at North Junior High School's home economics room. The president, Beverly Eichold, presented her new officers who include two charter members: Charlotte Budd, treasurer, and Eula Haft, recording secretary.

Fifteen members answered roll call with one guest, Lillian Ray, introduced. Program chairman Marilyn Prill outlined plans for the October meeting which annually is a cooperative meal and this year will be a salad smorgasbord. Each member is requested to bring her favorite salad and table service. Guests are also welcome to attend. Darryl Raymond of the Deering

Insurance Agency will speak and answer questions on "No Fault Insurance."

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hatch, who are lapidary enthusiasts, spoke on their hobby and showed slides on the tools and machinery Mr. Hatch had constructed for use in polishing, grinding, etc. They also had several finished products to exhibit.

An invitation was read from the Women's Study Club and Junior Study Club to attend the open house at Girlstown on Sept. 28.

Hostesses for the evening were Mary Kosin, chairman; Joyce Phillips and Agnes Elliott who used an arrangement of fresh fruit and sugar glazed grapes as their centerpiece.

HOW DO I GO ABOUT RETIREMENT?

Unlike a Frank Sinatra, you will probably only retire once, so you'll want to be super-intelligent about how you go about retiring.

Don't burn your bridges behind you, such as selling your home and running off to the sunnier climes the day you retire. Your home may be the best investment you have at any price. Going to Florida or Hawaii for the winter may be retirement enough as a "getaway." Hasty decisions are frequently costly and irreversible. Easy does it. It's better to retire slowly and gradually. Begin early. Think and plan about where to live, what you'll do and when. Gather FACTS about your decisions — not emotions. Estimate income at retirement and how you will supplement that income if it is too low; also how to use it to your best advantage if it is ample.

Mistakes are costly. Remember that at retirement you cannot afford to make too many little mistakes and ANY big mistakes. Plan in advance. Make lists of the pros and cons. Get expert help whenever it's needed. And here's where we may be of some assistance. We may be able to direct you to sources of expertise in some retirement matters, such as Social Security benefits, union pensions and veteran's benefits. Stop by and see us. We'll help if we can.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES ABERASTURI

St. John's is wedding site

St. John the Baptist Catholic Church in Ypsilanti was reserved Aug. 14 for the nuptial mass which united Janice Sherbert of Belleville and Charles Aberasturi of Allen Park in holy matrimony.

Celebrant of the 2 p.m. double ring rite was The Rev. David Harvey.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Wesley of 244 Daly St., Birmingham, Ala., formerly of Belleville. Rosaria Aberasturi of 14984 Cicotte, Allen Park, and Victoriano Aberasturi of Wayne are parents of the bridegroom.

For the candlelight ceremony the altar was appointed with baskets filled with handmade ivory satin roses and rosebuds, burgundy and rose straw flowers, eucalyptus, German statice and baby's breath. A personal friend of the bride, Chris Harrison of Romulus, created all the flowers for the occasion.

Lector was the bridegroom's uncle, Albert J. Ferland of Centerline, who read two special verses of scripture chosen by the bridal couple.

Music was supplied by guitarist Carol Zakrzewski and soloist Laurie Leabu, both of Ypsilanti. Mothers of the couple were escorted to their seats as Miss Leabu sang "Sunrise, Sunset" after which the bridal coterie entered to the singing of "Speak Softly, Love." Other selections included "The Wedding Song," "Sabbath Prayer," "Take Our Bread" and "Ave Maria." "For Baby" was used as the recessional. During communion, when bread baked by the bridegroom's sister, Helen Aberasturi was distributed, the music was "Morning Has Broken."

Entering the aisle on the arm of her step-father, Janice appeared in an old-fashioned gown of ivory sateau fashioned with a high neckline and bishop sleeves enhanced with delicate Schiffo embroidery and Venice lace. The A-line skirt, which drifted into a chapel train, was bordered with a ruffled flounce of sateau.

Her 2-tiered cathedral-length veil of silk illusion and Venice lace was caught to a little Juliet cap of seed pearls and lace. Completing her bridal finery was a circular bouquet of handmade satin ivory roses and rosebuds intermingled with German statice, baby's breath, green eucalyptus, handmade pumpkin seed flowers, white immortals and a scattering of pale blue star flowers.

The bride chose her sister, Mrs. Jacqueline Boone of Belleville, to be matron of honor. She was distinguished by her pale blue picture hat which was banded in blue nylon tulle and accented by two handmade blue satin roses. The other attendants' hats were in white with the same trim.

Bridesmaids were the bridegroom's sister, Helen Aberasturi of Allen Park; Mrs. Linda Coons of Lansing, Mrs. Kathy Mann of Belleville and a high school friend of the bride, Mrs. Sherry Potts, also of Belleville. The bride's 10-year-old sister, Sherri Wesley of Birmingham, Ala., was junior bridesmaid.

Their identical empire style gowns were in aqua and periwinkle blue with shades of pink, burgundy and deep blue carrying out the "castles in the air" design. Styling details included sheer three-quarter sleeves with ruffle trim and surplice necklines.

Each carried a side-handle wicker basket filled with handmade light blue satin roses, pink and rose straw flowers, German statice and baby's breath with royal blue star flowers adding contrast.

Five-year old Anna Ferland of Centerline, a cousin of the bridegroom, was flowergirl in a long frock of pale pink organza with three rows of ruffles at the hemline, on the short puffed sleeves and at the neckline. She wore a pale pink picture hat with pink velvet ribbon and 10 handmade pink satin rosebuds encircling the crown. Her white basket contained rose petals from the bridegroom's mother's garden.

Randall Boone, the bride's 5-year-old nephew, carried out the duties of ringbearer.

Henry Aberasturi of Allen Park was his brother's best man. Others on the esquire side were Charles Coons of Lansing, the bridegroom's college roommate; Paul Drolshagen of Ann Arbor; Michael Malone of Lansing, a high school friend, and Stephen Westjohn of Ann Arbor, another roommate. Eight-year-old Ronald Wesley of Birmingham, Ala., was junior groomsman at his sister's wedding.

At the reception held at Roma's of Garden City, the bride's mother greeted the 215 guests in a turquoise chiffon gown to which she pinned her corsage of handmade blue satin roses and baby's breath. Adding a similar corsage in peach to her pale apricot chiffon gown was the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Aberasturi.

Since returning from their two week honeymoon in San Juan, Puerto Rico and St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands, the newlyweds have taken up residence in the bride's apartment at 150 Carmell, Belleville.

The new Mrs. Aberasturi is executive secretary for the vice-president, controller at Kelsey Hayes Co. of Romulus. She also attends evening classes at Eastern Michigan University (EMU). Her husband, a cost estimator at Kelsey Hayes Co., holds a bachelor of business administration degree and currently is working towards his master of science degree in accounting at EMU.

The evening before the wedding Charles and Janice played host to some 30 guests at the rehearsal dinner held at the Spaghetti Bender in Ypsilanti.

Livestock needs vitamins

Livestock and humans have one characteristic in common, both require a diet that provides an adequate supply of vitamins and minerals. Lack of iodine will cause goiter, lack of iron will cause anemia and lack of vitamin D will cause rickets in farm animals just as in humans.

Farmers and ranchers are very careful to see that their animals receive the vitamins and minerals they need, either naturally through the food they eat or by the addition of special supplements.

Parks-Wanty vows repeated at Belleville Church of God

A honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls, Ont. followed the Sept. 11 wedding of Barbara Jean Wanty of 8621 Sprinkmaker Way, Ypsilanti, and Harold Michael Parks of 9806 Woodland Ct., Ypsilanti.

The Belleville Church of God was the setting for their double ring marriage which was conducted by The Rev. Billy Clark before some 200 relatives and friends. For the 5 p.m. rite, the altar was adorned with two bouquets of gladiolas and carnations.

Becky Patton, the soloist, sang "We've Only Just Begun."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Eldridge of 41919 Arthur, Belleville. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Parks of Ypsilanti.

The bride wore an off-white silk gown trimmed with blue sequins and lace and carried a bouquet of pink and white daisies, carnations and roses.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was preceded up the aisle by her sister, Lana Eldridge of Belleville, who was maid of honor; Marie Locklear of Warren; Vinnie Reed of Ypsilanti; Becky Suthers of Taylor and Linda Parks of Ypsilanti, the bridegroom's sister.

Their pale blue polyester gowns were accented with velvet at the sleeves and collar and accessorized by bouquets of blue mums and white roses.

Best man was Bruce Hamlin of Ypsilanti. The corps of ushers included Keith Parks of Ypsilanti, brother of the bridegroom; Howard Studeman of Westland; Scott Hubbard, Kermit Sizemore and Mark Camilleri, a cousin, all of Ypsilanti; and Shane Enis of Inkster.

The bride's mother chose for the occasion a long dress in two shades of green and a corsage of green and white roses and carnations. Mrs.

Parks, the bridegroom's mother, donned a multi-colored floral print gown to which she pinned her corsage of pink and white carnations and roses.

The wedding reception was held in the church. The five 1949 and 1950 vintage Jeepster cars used to transport the wedding party belonged to Mr. and Mrs. Reed Smith of Weston, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Francis Conrad, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Huffman and Mr. and Mrs. John Shlotz, all of Grand Rapids, Ohio; and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Young of New Boston.

The bride attended Finney High School in Detroit and now is working for Horst Manufacturing of Belleville. Her husband attended Lincoln High School and serves in the U.S. Marine Corps Reserves in Detroit. He is employed by GMAD at Willow Run.

The bridegroom's parents entertained at the rehearsal dinner at their home on Woodland Court.

Ladies day out a YWCA treat

Ladies Day Out at the YWCA of Western Wayne County is as traditional as apple pie yet as modern and up to date as space travel. The Tuesday and Thursday program, which gets underway this week has been restyled and will have great appeal for women who can free themselves momentarily of day time responsibilities.

YWCA Ladies Day Out is a concept of refreshment for women, a day apart from routine, a time to sample a new skill or refresh one that had to be set aside for more "urgent" matters. It's a place where the most important person is you.

And, what about children? There are alternatives. Check the availability of space in the YW Preschool Nursery for ages 3-5 which operates on a semester basis 9:30-11:30 a.m. Monday thru Friday.

Consider the play room. For the first time, infant care for ages 8 months through kindergarten will be offered. Mothers using the play room plan must remain in the building at all times.

The coffee pot is ready by 9:15 and sessions begin at 9:30 a.m. There are choices of classes from 4 to 10 weeks. Most classes are two hours in length, a few are one hour long. All prices are extremely low plus one individual selecting two Ladies Day Out classes may take the second class at half price.

Tuesday Ladies Day Out offerings in the morning include quilting, ceramics, fabric painting, dried flowers, bridge, Sostaf (weight control) and Christmas Workshop. Quilting ranks high in vogue fashion and interior design and may well be among the most popular offerings.

Ceramics is basic hand building instruction in pottery making including glazing and firing.

Fabric Painting utilizes a technique similar to tile painting on denim with acrylic. It is wash proof for clothing and terrific on children's wear.

A four week Christmas Emphasis, which begins November 23, will concentrate on gifts of fabric painting. Once again the common is changed to the custom design look and best of all, artistic ability is not a prerequisite.

The course called "Dried Flowers" could be misleading. Each week class members will create a finished home decorating piece using dried flowers as one of the components along with ribbon, basket, board or whatever, to create wall, table or mantle pieces guaranteed to bring rave comment.

Christmas Workshop beginning Nov. 9 features pine cone wreaths, trees, centerpieces and door swags. "Sostaf" is a shape shop design for weight loss, tone up and change of eating and cooking habits — all while having fun.

Bridge is for intermediate and advanced students with individual attention and an introduction to duplicate bridge.

On Tuesday Lunch 'N' Listen will be offered from 12:130 p.m. Bring your own lunch or order a sandwich in the morning and enjoy eight weekly entertaining and informative programs.

From 1:30 — 2:30 Tuesday afternoon relax and tone up with yoga or attend Parent-Tot's Art with your preschooler. Parent-Tot's Art is designed to help parent and child explore the art world through use of many media so that the creative development process can continue at home.

Thursday Ladies Day Out beginning Sept. 30 at 9:30 a.m. includes a morning choice of Regional Cooking (prepare and eat Oriental, California, Southern Creole, New England, Williamsburg and Indian specialties); Painting (oil or acrylic); Rug Hooking (McGowan method of dyeing colors and creating original or Americana designs); Bridge (fundamentals for beginners), Exercise, Rape Prevention, (self defense techniques) and Creative Applique (machine and hand method will be taught for personalizing clothing and household linens.) Three sessions of Creative Applique will be offered in December with a Christmas emphasis.

On Thursday from 11:30-12:30, lunch time is provided to chat with new friends. At 12:30 there is a choice of macrame, knitting and crocheting or basic sewing.

Other day time offerings in addition to Ladies Day Out include on Monday at 12:30 beginning Oct. 4, International Culinary Arts with two sessions each of preparation and tasting of Chinese, French, Japanese and yeast baked treats. Yoga is available on Wednesday at 10 a.m. beginning Sept. 29.

Many other evening and Saturday activities are available for the family and youth. Registration in advance is necessary. To register or receive a brochure, call Western Wayne County YWCA, 561-4110, or stop in at 26279 Michigan Avenue between Beech Daly and John Daly.

Feelings about Girl Scout work vary with status

Leading a Girl Scout troop means different things to different people, according to the results of study of Girl Scout professionals and volunteers, it was recently announced by the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council.

According to the informal attitude assessment of 57 adult Girl Scouts, the satisfactions of volunteering vary with one's age, marital status and parental involvement.

Unmarried college students and young working people were more likely to cite the opportunity to test their ideas, communicate values and achieve status as a contributing adult.

Retirees most often mentioned that Girl Scouts help them keep in touch with the younger generation and to be actively involved in community life. Several stated that Scouts helped them maintain physical and mental health and forestall loneliness.

Working parents ranked first the benefits of "knowing their children's friends and peers", and also cited the opportunity to work with their children outside the family setting.

Preparation for parenthood and making neighborhood friends appealed most to young married couples who increasingly take on the direction of a Girl Scout troop as a joint venture.

"What the study showed vividly, is that whatever your age, marital status, the age of your children or the lack of any, there are personal satisfactions for you in Scouting," commented Mrs. Frances Bauer of Plymouth, Council president. She pointed out, too, that individual differences in experience are compensated for by a variety of free training courses in such subjects as girl development, outdoor skills and group organization.

Museum's exhibit surveys gimmicks of election years

To coincide with the nation's 48th presidential election this year, Henry Ford Museum presents a special exhibit of gimmicks and gadgets from bygone political campaigns. Titled "A History of Political Parties in the U.S.," the display traces a uniquely American institution — the presidential campaign — from Washington to Nixon.

While the fervor of past campaigns fades every four years with the tabulation of votes, each has left behind a raft of partisan paraphernalia as reminders of the contests waged and the issues raised. Hundreds of these items, representing not only the Democrats and Republicans, but the lesser-known Whig, American Know-Nothing, Free Soil and Bull Moose parties among others, have been assembled in the museum's Folk Art Gallery for this exhibit.

Buttons and badges, broadsides and banners proclaim a variety of causes and candidates. One entire wall of the Folk Art Gallery is devoted to a time line tracing political party development in the United States. Juxtaposed against a chronological account of events in our nation's history is a chart showing the rise and fall of individual parties — from Washington's Federalists right through Wallace's American Independents.

Political parties did not really take hold in America until the franchise vote was extended to include a wider segment of the male population in the 1820s. Quite logically, it is in this era, that campaign gadgets made their debut. Among the earliest of such memorabilia in the museum's exhibit are a cast iron frog emblazoned with the words, "I croak for the Jackson wagon," and a pressed glass cup plate decorated with William Henry Harrison's log cabin birthplace.

In the mid-19th century, political activists used torchlight parades as a way of showing strength in numbers for their candidates. In the center of the gallery, examples of the kinds of torches they carried, along with a black oilcloth cape — this one bearing the names Grant and Colfax — of the type used to protect their shoulders from dripping oil, are on display.

Elsewhere in the room, visitors will find such assorted memorabilia as a Lincoln button from his 1860 campaign, a Garfield shaving mug from 1880, a china plate decorated with Grover Cleveland's likeness, and a Teddy Roosevelt fan.

In suburban locations

Grant to fund seniors' health screening

The Wayne County Department of Health has received a $100,333 federal grant to provide free health screening for approximately 2,500 senior citizens living in suburban Wayne County and the cities of Hamtramck and Highland Park. The County Board of Commissioners formally approved the grant at Sept. 21.

The approval allows for the continuation of a senior citizen health screening program authorized late last year. The new 1-year program financed with federal funds under Title III of the Older Americans Act, will begin Friday.

Commissioner William G. Suzore, chairman of the commissioners' Human Resources Committee, said that no county funds are required.

"We are extremely pleased with the response we've been getting from the seniors who already have taken advantage of this program," Suzore said. "It's been operating since January and has served 1,100 people."

Suzore said the grant would support a team of nurses, social workers and technicians who will travel to 17 sites in outer Wayne County giving seniors a series of free health tests.

"Many seniors are hurting and could be helped, but for one reason or other they haven't seen a doctor in years," he said. "We would like to encourage them to come in for a check up or for whatever health problem might be worrying them."

Suzore added that the program was geared specifically to meet health problems common to older persons, such as glaucoma, hearing loss, foot ailments, arthritis, blood deficiencies and diabetes.

Qualified nurses administer the tests, and then if necessary, the seniors are referred to private physicians or appropriate county agencies for help.

Charles Wolford, county public health administrator, said the Health Department also attempts to steer senior citizens who need social service help in the right direction.

"Many of these people simply don't realize help is available, for their financial needs as well as their physical needs," he said.

Seniors, age 60 and older, can call the Health Department for more information on the program, or to set up an appointment, at 729-2211, ext. 251, or 274-2800, ext. 251.

The sites proposed as centers for the mobile health team include the United Methodist Church of Romulus, the Lutheran Church of Huron Township, J Building at Wayne County General Hospital in Westland, the Sumpter Senior Center in Sumpter Township.

Drug abuse plan to continue

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners has authorized its Department of Substance Abuse to apply for a $4.9 million federal-state grant that would help 2,000 people per day, from drug affected infants to working adults.

The grant would continue a treatment and rehabilitation program that has provided daily services to 1,144 drug-dependent persons over the past three years at a cost of some $5 million, most of it in federal and state funds.

"The aim of this program is to reduce the number of people who abuse drugs and restore them as taxpaying members of our community," explained Commissioner William G. Suzore, chairman of the County's Human Resources Committee. "By helping these drug dependent individuals who often rob should see a reduction in crime."

Terms of the grant, which comes from the National Institute on Drug Abuse, call for a federal contribution of $2.1 million. The state would provide $739,013 and local communities $1.7 million, with the remaining funds coming in the form of in-kind services such as personnel and equipment. No county funds are required.

Communities that will participate, the estimated cost of the project, and the amount each city will receive from the federal or state government are:

Livonia, project cost $58,321, $38,611 grant; Westland, $49,679, $32,889 grant; Taylor Downriver Guidance Clinic, $220,739, $122,200 grant; Northpointe Clinic in River Rouge, $55,842, $32,175 grant; Southpointe Clinic in Riverview, $55,411, $28,600 grant; Garden City, $137,479, $77,025 grant; Dearborn Heights, $205,358, $131,300 grant.

Also, a county-wide program called "Project Headline" which provides family counseling and a crisis center, will go to Inkster; $360,600, $248,670 grant; Hutzel Hospital primarily for treatment of drug affected infants and their mothers, Romulus $403,641, $234,558 grant; $91,814, $53,625 grant; Redford, $73,500, $42,900 grant, and the City of Detroit Neighborhood Services Department, $2,407,174, $1,093,525 grant.

In addition to this drug abuse program, the Board of Commissioners recently approved a grant application which would provide an additional $14 million worth of substance abuse services over the next year.

The commissioners also authorized a $9,000 expenditure to correct building code deficiencies at the former Wayne County Child Development Center. The facilities have been leased to the Sacred Heart Rehabilitation Center for use as the largest alcoholic treatment center in Michigan.

The lease will be renegotiated upon completion of the building code requirements.

Economy 'tops' clean air

What may be a blow to clean air lovers is a boon to the area's economy in the eyes of the 15th District's Democratic congressman.

Congressman William D. Ford hailed the U.S. House of Representatives action which delays the imposition of stricter auto emission standards as a move which may bolster Michigan's economy.

Ford said that passage of the amendment to the Clean Air Act would prevent the loss of nearly eight million automobile sales during the next 10 years, save 800,000 jobs in the automobile industry and would save one billion gallons of gasoline each year for the next 10 years.

The amendment as passed by the house delays implementation of more stringent auto emission standards as proposed by the original Clean Air Act.

Auto companies have campaigned against the implementation of the standards next year citing their adverse effect on the industry's attempt to bounce back from an auto sales slump during the past three years.

Ford said that passage of the amendment, which still faces a vote in the U.S. Senate, saved consumers $22 billion in added costs through 1985.

"All this waste and loss would have occurred without any significant increase in air quality," Ford said after the amendment was adopted in the house by a 224-169 margin.

Congressman Ford called the amendment, known as the Dingell-Broyhill Amendment for its co-sponsors, Congressman John Dingell (D-Michigan) and Congressman James Broyhill (R-North Carolina), a "carefully planned compromise between the need for environmental protection, economic safeguards, for the automakers' and car-buyers and energy conservation."

"The industry still will be able to move ahead on clean air measures, while protecting jobs, preserving petroleum, avoiding drastic increases in the purchase and maintenance cost of automobiles and helping to eliminate our dependence on imported oil," he added.

Canoeing gains in popularity

Clinton River: Wooded wonder for city folk

The picturesque, fast-moving Clinton River's 122 curving miles of navigable water through Oakland and Macomb counties offer city dwellers an excellent chance to explore wooded countryside and farmland.

Canoeing on the Clinton is gaining in popularity each year. Bring your own canoe and launch it from any of several parks along the river, or rent one at liveries in the Rochester-Utica or Mount Clemens areas.

There are no dams, but portages sometimes are required around obstructions such as fallen trees, which can be hidden around curves.

The Clinton moves through rolling terrain, farmland and several towns at a 3- to 8-mile-an-hour clip on its way to Lake St. Clair, offering canoeists challenges as well as pleasant experiences.

Winter storms felled more than 500 trees along the river, blocking it in several areas, but it now is open all the way to Mount Clemens.

Aluminum canoes are recommended because the stream has shallow sections in summer and the bottom is rocky.

The Clinton River passes through the east end of Bloomer State Park No. 2, the Utica Unit of the Rochester-Utica State Recreation Area, Sterling Heights City Park and Shady Side and City parks in Mount Clemens. There are launch points, day-use facilities and toilets at those parks.

The river also passes through several towns—Rochester, Utica, Sterling Heights and Mount Clemens—offering visual variety. There is fair trout and bass fishing along the way.

A minimum of 16 hours is required to canoe the river's length. Frequent launch points are available for shorter trips, ranging from a few hours to a day.

Experts say the 50-mile western segment from I-75 to Bloomer State Park No. 2 should be traveled by experts only. The 24-mile portion from Bloomer Park to Utica's City Park on Van Dyke is recommended for those with some canoeing experience. For novices and family groups, the 48-mile stretch from Utica to Mount Clemens' Shady Side Park is suggested.

The river is wide and easy to navigate between Mount Clemens and Lake St. Clair, but there are many power boats on that portion and their wakes are dangerous to canoeists.

Two canoe liveries serve the Clinton River. They are Carver's Canoe Rentals at Warsaw Park, off

Hamlin Road between Dequindre and Ryan roads, and Clinton River Canoe Rentals, west of Mount Clemens City Park.

The historic Clinton-Kalamazoo

Canal, built as a large canal in 1839, parallels the Clinton River from Avon Road (23 Mile) to M-59 (Hall Road).

There are steep banks along the river through the Utica unit of the Rochester-Utica State Recreation Area, making landing difficult. The take-out point at that park is just below a footbridge over the river.

Downstream from the point where the Edison power lines cross the river just east of Hayes Road, the Red Run Drain enters the Clinton from the right. Canoeists must keep to the left, following the river, to proceed downstream.

Between Moravian Drive and Groesbeck Highway, just west of Mount Clemens, the river passes through the grounds of the Hillcrest Country Club.

Banks are steep as the river approaches Shady Side Park in Mount Clemens. The left bank opposite the spillway is best for take-outs. However, canoeists should not enter the spillway, where there is a submerged weir to control water levels.

Canoeists pass under several major highways along the route, including M-59, M-53, M-97, Gratiot Avenue, Crocker Boulevard in Mount Clemens and I-94.

Motorists can enjoy the Clinton River, too, on a winding, scenic drive along Clinton River Road, which parallels the river from M-59 to Cass Road near Mount Clemens.

FRED HEYENBRUCH

Parachutist joins in church service

An unusual highlight of a 2-hour Sunday morning service at the Metro Baptist Temple of Belleville will be parachutist Fred Heyenbruch landing on the church property, located at 894 E. Huron River Drive.

Heyenbruch, a national skydiver from Kentucky, will be parachuting onto the church property during the morning service, 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. Sunday. He will give his testimony for Christ in this service, a church spokesman said.

Heyenbruch plans to free fall 5,000 feet at an estimated 175 miles per hour before opening his chute to land on the church grounds. A 2-way radio, coupled to a public address system will make his act the only one in the world in which the jumper communicates with his audience throughout the entire jump, the spokesman said.

In his jumping, Heyenbruch uses a red, white and blue parachute, with the message "Jesus saves, yes, even you" written on it.

"All our friends in the Belleville-Ypsilanti area are invited to watch the jump and hear Heyenbruch's testimony for Jesus in the morning service," said Pastor John Vapreznas.

CAPers take part in encampment

Young people from Wayne, Belleville, Westland, and Ypsilanti who are cadet members of Civil Air Patrol (CAP) recently attended an encampment at Phelps Collins Air National Guard base in Alpena.

Those attending from the Constellation Squadron were transported to the encampment by Lt. Col. Creighton in the "Tiger Wagon", the Group 16 bus. Participating in the encampment activities were: Cadet Sgt. Teresa Rea of Wayne, Cadet Sgt. James Zielinski of Westland, and Cadet Airman Gary Udovich, Cadet 1st Class Paul Dougherty, Cadet Airman Clay Glover, Cadet Airman Michael Axford, Cadet Basic David Budlong and Cadet Basic Mack Adams all of Belleville.

Rea received a trophy for being a member of the honor flight at the encampment.

The cadets were able to take time from their busy training schedule to tour the Wurthsmith Air Force base. They were able to tour a B-52 Strato Fortress, a KC 135 Strato Tanker, and the firing range where they viewed some AR 15s and M 16s.

During the encampment, the teenage CAP members spent a busy time learning what life at an active military installation is like and observed various operational and support functions of the base. They stayed at the dormitories during the encampment and ate in the dining halls.

More than 5,000 other Civil Air Patrol Cadets will be attending similar encampments at Air Force installations throughout the nation.

Attending such an encampment is required for advancement in the CAP cadet program. Youngsters are eligible to join the CAP cadets when they pass the sixth grade.

Civil Air Patrol is a nationwide, nonprofit organization whose members are all volunteers, and is also a civilian auxiliary of the U.S. Air Force. It is best known for its air search and rescue, and other emergency missions, but also conducts aerospace education and youth motivation programs.

For information concerning the cadet program or adult participation contact Lt. Willard G. Huffaker, Belleville at 699-0850.

Glenn awaits title favorite GC East

Westlanders whip Churchill for victory No. 2

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

With two easy victories behind them, Coach Jerry Lutri and John Glenn prepare to greet Garden City East, the team that Northwest Suburban Conference coaches singled out as Franklin's heir-apparent to the league football throne.

East will bring a 1-1 record into Friday night's league opener while Glenn has won two straight, its latest a 27-0 easy victory over neighboring Livonia Churchill.

"Don't let that loss deceive you," said Lutri, referring to Garden City's setback to Bishop Borgess over the weekend. "East is a talented, big, strong team and we'll need every man at his best to beat them."

Sports

The game marks the coaching debut in the league for both Lutri and Garden City East's Carl Stevens. Stevens replaced Gary Humphrey, while Lutri has taken over from Lloyd Carr.

Glenn put Churchill away early as the Westlanders struck for three touchdowns in the first quarter, picked up a TD in the second to coast to a one-sided 27-0 affair.

"We were outthit, outmanned and outplayed in every department," said Churchill's Ken Kaestner. "And we have to thank Lutri for being kind to us — he used most of his reserves the second half."

Glenn got on the scoreboard on the fourth play from scrimmage in the first quarter as quarterback Bill Lee dove in from the one-yard line. Lee set up the TD with a 56-yard pass-run play, using Mark Grabowski as his receiver.

Grabowski was cut down one yard short of the touchdown. He gave Glenn the extra point to put the Rockets up 7-0.

Churchill ran five plays after the ensuing kickoff and then made history with its punt. The ball went to Cliff Williamson who zigzagged his way through Churchill's defenders and sprinted 72 yards for Glenn's second TD of the game.

"That was the first time in our history that any team had run back a punt against us for a touchdown," Kaestner said.

And it could also be the first time in Glenn's history that a punt-receiver ever scored on a punt return.

Grabowski then made it a 14-0 ball game with the conversion.

A Churchill turnover, this time in the way of an interception paved the way for Glenn's third score. It was Williamson again who did the job as he stepped in front of quarterback Ron Nutter's pass, picked it off and scampered 31 yards to the Charger 18-yard line before he was stopped.

Five plays later, Glenn's Jeff Preston scored from four-yards out.

For all purposes the game was over then, but Glenn added its fourth and final TD of the game midway in the second quarter on a one-yard plunge by Preston.

Glenn amassed 50 yards from its passing attack and 96 on the ground for a total of 146, while Churchill had 71 yards passing and a minus two rushing. Glenn also had the edge in first downs 8-4.

Preston wound up as Glenn's leading rusher with 64 yards on 20 carries.

"I feel our entire defensive unit did an excellent job," said Lutri, "you'll have to mention everyone if you're going to single out anyone."

Touchdown

Raising the ball high, Westland John Glenn tailback Jeff Preston (32) breaks into smiles as he scores his team's third touchdown on a four-yard run in the first quarter against a visiting Churchill contingent. Glenn made it two straight with a one-sided 27-0 victory and begins its bid for a Northwest Suburban Conference title Friday night with Garden City East supplying the competition. East brings a 1-1 record to town.

Wayne pulls out victory over Fordson in last seconds

If Wayne Memorial keeps this up, head coach Floyd Carter will be ready for the psychiatric ward before the end of the 1976 football season.

For the second straight week, Wayne needed some last second heroics to win. In their opener they nipped Belleville 13-7 in overtime. Friday night Wayne scored two touchdowns in the last 3½ minutes of the game to jolt Fordson and win its Great Lakes 8 Conference opener 14-12.

"These kids never quit," said Carter, "I don't think they'll ever quit on us. I feel our kids deserved the win. They played their hearts out no matter what the score is."

Fordson had taken a 6-0 halftime lead when quarterback Craig Vasileff combined on a 44-yard touchdown pass to Bill Cibulka with 2:54 left. The Tractors brought in Jamal Berry for the extra point attempt and it was blocked by Larry Vojtkofsky.

"That play — the blocked punt — proved important," explained Carter, "because, after Fordson scored its second touchdown, they went for the two point conversion. We stopped them on that attempt," Carter added, "and stayed in the game."

Fordson widened the margin in the third quarter when Mohammed Berry culminated a nine-yard, four-play drive with a one-yard TD plunge.

Wayne started its counter-offensive late in the final quarter, scoring on Chris Leverenz' one-yard run that polished off a 24-yard drive fueled by an 18 yard pass completion from quarterback Pat Bledsoe to Keith Johnson.

That pass advanced Wayne to the Fordson six where Tim Clark picked up two yards and Chris Leverenz rushed for three, then scored on the third play of the series.

Mike Paz' point after kick turned it into a 12-7 ball game with 3:13 remaining.

Wayne's Chris Eberhart booted the ensuing kickoff to the Fordson 15-yard line and the defense, led by Ed Leverenz, held for three plays, forcing the Tractors to kick from their own 28-yard line.

With 1:19 left, Bledsoe unsuccessfully searched the air routes and on his third incomplete pass got help in the form of a personal foul by one of Fordson's players who nudged the Wayne QB in the gut.

The officials slapped a 15-yard personal penalty on the Dearbornite which led to an argument involving Charles Jestice, Fordson's coach, and the official.

The argument ended with a second 15-yard penalty against Jestice, giving the ball to Wayne on the Fordson 43 with 1:01 left.

Bledsoe then picked out Jerry Smart for a 18-yard pass, but the Zebra QB was sacked on the next play for a one-yard loss.

With 19 seconds showing on the clock, and a second down 11 to go situation confronting Wayne, Bledsoe teamed with Johnson on a 26-yard touchdown pass that lifted Wayne into the lead 13-12.

Paz' point after completed the scoring.

With four seconds left, Fordson had one play left, tried a pass that left short of its mark.

Wayne will run up against another tough league opponent Friday night when Carter's Zebras travel to Monroe. Monroe, the league's co-defending champ, also sports a 2-0 record.

Footnote to victory

Getting through Fordson's line of defense, Wayne Memorial's Larry Vojtkofsky (24) managed to block this extra point attempt by Jamal Saad (84) which played a pivotal role in Wayne 14-12 triumph over its Great Lakes 8 Conference adversary. Wayne will seek its third consecutive — second league — victory Friday night at Monroe.

Look what a 10-9 overtime football victory over Melvindale on Saturday accomplished for Cherry Hill and head coach Jerry Pawloski:

- It ended a 13-game losing streak;
- It was Cherry Hill's first victory ever over a Melvindale football team;
- It established — believe it or not — Cherry Hill as "the team to beat" in the Tri-River Conference;

• It was also the first football victory ever in overtime for Cherry Hill;

• Mike Minor's 25-yard field goal was the first time in Cherry Hill's history that a kicker successfully kicked a field goal;

And you can bet the Spartans are celebrating the win. However, it will be business as usual come Saturday, according to Pawloski. That's when Cherry Hill will host Riverside.

"The Melvindale game is a thing of the past," said the third year Cherry Hill coach. "We have a tough Riverside to play this Saturday and we're not taking anyone lightly."

Riverside has dropped two games, losing to nonleague rival Garden City East in its opener and falling to defending league champ, Taylor Kennedy, last week.

Cherry Hill put the first three points on the board in the fourth quarter against Melvindale as Minor kicked a 25-yarder to break a three-quarter scoreless deadlock. But Melvindale tied it up late in that period on a 20-yarder by Earl Goodwin, forcing the issue into overtime.

Cherry Hill got a couple of breaks when the officials penalized Melvindale on the first two plays of the extra quarter, moving the ball to the Melvindale 2½-yard line. From there, Scott Dawson used the quarterback sneak to score.

Minor then booted what proved to be the winning extra point.

Melvindale retaliated with a touchdown by fullback Scott Hardin who scored off tackle from two yards out. However, the Cardinals missed the extra point.

Minor also did the job on defense as he was credited with eight tackles and three assists. He recovered a first quarter fumble. Teammates Rick Searcy, Pat Pudelek, Scott Grindling and sophomore John Sweet also earned praise from their coach for outstanding defensive performances.

Cherry Hill's Daryl Gallant, called upon to replace injured fullback Mike Wiebalhouse who strained a ligament in his knee, contributed 68 of the 125 total yards.

Romulus defense shines

Oak Park was just what Romulus needed to come to life.

Coach Tom Baldwin's Eagles, who lost their opener to Detroit DePore 22-6 a week ago, bounced back to claim a 14-7 victory over the Parkers for their initial win of the campaign.

Baldwin, critical of his defense a week ago, felt the defense matured against Oak Park.

"We allowed 32 yards and three first downs," Baldwin said, "and that's the sort of defense this team is capable of playing. We did the job, an excellent job on defense and need more of the same this week."

Romulus goes after Jackson Northwest, its third rival, on Friday (7:30 p.m.) in Jackson.

"We don't know very much about them (Northwest)," said Baldwin.

Romulus spotted Oak Park a first quarter touchdown, then came back with six points in the second quarter and scored what proved to be the winning TD in the third stanza.

A 15-yard pass from quarterback Phil Bonam to Don McMann put the Eagles on the scoreboard early in the second period. Romulus' touchdown was aided by a 37-yard punt return by sophomore Rich Lewis and rushes by Dwight Walker, Steve Hutchison and Andy Orgovan.

Delvin Nelson's fumble recovery at the Oak Park 26-yard line set up Romulus' second touchdown of the game. It took Bonam nine plays and Orgovan's two-yard plunge to score.

Hutchison kicked the extra point. Orgovan also distinguished himself on defense as he counted nine solo tackles while Rodney Summers, a roverback, helped to spearhead the solid defense.

Romulus had nine first downs to Oak Park's three and piled up 198 yards to its rivals' 32. Bonam hit on two of five passes for 23 yards but he also had two intercepted. Oak Park failed to find receivers on all seven passing tries.

Walker wound up as Romulus' leading rusher, picking up 101 yards in 21 carries.

Wayne hosts UM gymnasts

The University of Michigan gymnastics team, perennial Big-10 champs, will stage an exhibition at 7:30 p.m. today in the Wayne Memorial High School gymnasium.

Among the participants will be Dot Summers, a Wayne graduate, and a member of the gymnastics squad.

Admission will be $1.

Lee's march against Churchill

Shaking off a couple of Livonia Churchill defenders, John Glenn's junior quarterback Bill Lee (12) picks up key yardage in Friday night's nonleague confrontation that ended in an easy 27-0 Westland victory. Lee and his Rockets will face their first serious test of the season Friday when Garden City East, cast in the role of pre-season title favorites, invades Rocketland to open up the 1976 Northwest Suburban Conference campaign.

Belleville wins league opener; awaits Dearborn

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Calvin Patterson is only a sophomore but already he's carving out quite a name at Belleville as a ball carrier and defensive safety in football.

Patterson rushed for 135 yards and scored two touchdowns to lead Belleville to a 12-6 victory over Suburban 8 Conference football rival, Plymouth Salem, Friday night.

The rugged 6-foot, 183-pound athlete also accounted for five solo tackles and three assists.

"We're very happy with this victory," said Belleville Coach Pat Stokes. "Our defense came up a solid performance — Salem had only one first down the first half and our offense was much improved."

Belleville struck early against the Rocks who gave up 12 points in the first 12 minutes of the game. Belleville took the opening kickoff and reached the 27-yard line and three plays later Patterson scored from 39-yards out.

Patterson set up his TD with a 33-yard sprint the first play of the game from scrimmage.

Roy Rutherford attempted the extra point and it was blocked.

Salem had the ball for three plays after the ensuing kickoff and failed to generate an offense, surrendering the punting back to their visitors who put the ball in play at their own 44-yard line.

It took Belleville quarterback Tom Laine another three plays to maneuver his Tigers to the seven-yard line where Patterson again took it over the goal line. In that TD drive Kevin Barnes, who had more than 100-yards in rushes, accounted for a large chunk of the yardage.

Laine tried for the two-point conversion this time and was nailed short of the goal.

Salem managed to organize a threat in the third quarter when quarterback Ben Wilcox connected on a pair of 10-yard passes to halfback Tim Lilley. However, the Rocks were left standing at the Belleville 13-yard line where they handed over the ball.

Ray Paponetti's pass interception also interrupted another serious Plymouth threat in the third quarter. Belleville advanced to the 14 where its offense stalled and Stokes called out kicker Rutherford to attempt a 31-yard field goal which was blocked.

The Rocks completed a fourth down, six yards pass from Rich

Hewlett to Culy Lewis which gave them their lone TD of the game. That same combination set up the score on a pass completion that provided the Rocks with a key first down.

Belleville amassed 286 yards to Plymouth's 193, the Tigers rushing for 252 and passing for 34. The Rocks had 117 yards on the ground and 76 from a 6 of 14 passing attack. The Tigers had the edge in first downs 12-9 and in penalties — 10 for 70 yards to two for 10.

Barnes, an All-Area griddier last year, carried 23 times for 106 yards while Keith Briethaupt, a linebacker, earned plaudits for his defensive efforts.

Steve Maiser provided Salem with most of the offensive yardage and Albert Reid, a tackle, stood out on defense.

Belleville is at home Friday night to Dearborn, a team that will bring a 2-0 record to town.

Stokes feels that they'll have to stop Eric Tarpinian, Dearborn's hard-running back, and play another superb defensive game to beat Dearborn.

"We're looking forward to this game," Stokes said. "Dearborn has a fine team and it should be a good game."

Kelley sets record

Senior place-kicker Bill Kelley, a John Glenn alumnus, set a Wayne State University career field goal kicking record with his seventh and eight career successes against Northwood.

Kelley hit from 27 and 29 yards to extend his string of field goals games to five with seven on the span. A backup end, Kelley now had 61 career kicking points and leads the 1976 Tartars in scoring with 14 points.

He's made five of six extra points and three of three field goals. Kelley began his field goal string against Northwood in 1975.

OUTDOORS with GORDIE

By Gordon Charles

"Brainwashing" of school children continues by "humane" groups who are determined to end hunting and fishing as popular outdoor sports. A number of recent examples show how this is being accomplished.

"Fishing is bad," is what one organization is telling the kids. Literature being directed toward the youngsters says, "A fish likes to jump and play just as we do when we feel happy." The inference is that anybody who would catch and kill a fish is thus some kind of a monster.

Commenting wryly on this viewpoint, Missouri writer Jim Auckley said, "The next logical step, I suppose, would refer to the possibility that plants have feelings. Maybe that noise from our morning bowl of cereal is really cries of terror!"

Nor has a pending $300 million lawsuit against CBS News done a thing to stop "Guns of Autumn." That infamous "documentary" film is now being distributed to schools through a catalog listing by Carousel Films, Inc.

"Love to Kill" is another film excerpted from "Bless the Beasts and the Children." The 14 minutes of blood, gore and violence is being circulated to some schools through the Department of Education-funded Regional Education Media Center in Ingham County.

This film deals with a commercial buffalo slaughter operation and how six boys, sickened by the killing, take the law into their own hands and use a truck to tear down the corral gate. One of the boys is then shot and killed as a trespasser.

A school quiz that follows compares the worth of humans with the "worthless" animals and justifies their trespass actions. "Many people would argue that the killings at Mylai are directly traceable to this 'pleasure principle' and that extraordinary conditions, like war, free some men to indulge in these impulses," the kids are told in schools.

Literature is also being provided for Michigan schools from the National Humane Education Center of Waterford, Virginia, carrying a message of strong opposition to fishing. This is organized for three age groups: The Kindness Club (ages 6-10), Defenders (11-14) and EcoKIND (15-18). It also covers the fisherman's cruelty to worms!

Unfortunately for hunters and fishermen, some pretty influential people are being involved in campaigns against these time-honored sports. Amy Carter, daughter of Democratic Presidential candidate Jimmy Carter, is one. She was signed up by Liza Diprima, 9, daughter of the Wisconsin founders of the Animal Saving Association. The group seeks an end to the "killing of animals for fun or fur."

Jacques Cousteau, long opposed to sport fishing, has joined ASA along with the entire National Humane Society. So has U. S. Sen. Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin. "I was very proud to see that one of my young constituents is working so hard to protect all our animal life," he was recently quoted as saying. It happened after Liza led 300 children on a march to the Wisconsin capital to protest killing of animals.

They probably all went out for a hamburger afterwards.

Glenn harriers are nipped at wire by defending champ

Westland John Glenn came within four-tenths of a second of nipping Garden City East, the defending Northwest Suburban Conference cross country champ, in their league opener last week.

East emerged atop of a 27-28 victory to launch its bid for a second consecutive title. Though the Panthers lost individual honors to Glenn's Ted Unold, they parlayed a second, third and close fourth place into the key victory.

East's James Dydo beat Glenn's Randy Discher for fourth place, second to finish fourth, giving the Garden City runners the key points to win.

Discher's fifth place time was 16:19.

Unold, the recently-crowned Schoolcraft Invitational champ, toured the three-mile course with the winning time of 15:35. The next Glenn runner to cross the finish line was Discher who was trailed to the wire by teammates Mark Johnson and Curt Cretal. Glenn also finished ninth with Maury Brandshaw.

The loss left Glenn holding a deceptive 1-3 dual meet record. The Rockets have lost to East and Wayne Memorial, two of the top powers in the area and Western Wayne County this season.

Wayne won a close 27-30 decision from their arch rivals earlier in the week. That score was also Wayne's margin of victory over Glenn a year ago.

Unold suffered his first setback of the season when he trailed Wayne's Rich Blaha across the finish line. Blaha's winning time was 15:52; Unold was posted at 16:12.

Wayne finished third and fourth with Ron Mason (16:20) and Tim Quaintance (16:23) while Kevin Miller and Stan Quaintance were seventh and 12th, respectively.

Glenn received a fifth place from Cretal (16:25), who was followed to the wire by Discher (sixth), Bradshaw (eighth), Mark Johnson (ninth), Ron McNally (10) and Jim Barber (11th).

Coach Jerry Szukaitis' Rockets will be back in action today when they clash with Northwest rival Thurston at Cass Benton Park.

Livonia Franklin, defending state champ, falters

Though the knell hasn't sounded for Franklin, the defending Class A state and Northwest Suburban Conference football champs — coach Armend Vigna's Patriots will need a miracle to find their way to the post-season playoffs.

Stevenson, which has made it a habit of beating its arch-rival these past two years, put the state champs on the rope with a 17-0 punch last week.

That was Franklin's second straight loss.

"Our offense was so inconsistent that we never got anything going," said Vigna whose Patriots will face Thurston for their first home game of the season. "Our defense however played much better, good enough to win."

Vigna praised linebackers Ron Kroll and Paul Pietrzak for their defensive performances and noted that Larry Acton thwarted a third Stevenson touchdown when he knocked a Spartan receiver out of bounds on the Franklin seven.

Stevenson scored in the first quarter on a pass from quarterback Don Dolmetsch to Ron Colone which covered 15-yards. That TD capped a 75-yard drive.

The Spartans increased their advantage with a 30-yard field goal by Jim Stala in the third quarter and picked up a fourth period touchdown with less than two minutes in the game.

Canton rallies by Annapolis to give coach first victory

It didn't take long for Plymouth Canton to present its first year football coach Dave Schuele with his first football victory.

Rallying for two touchdowns in the third quarter, Canton went on to defeat visiting Dearborn Heights Annapolis 18-8 Saturday night.

The win evened up Canton's non-league record at 1-1. The Chiefs will open up the Western Six Conference phase of the season Friday night at home to Waterford Mott.

"I felt our players jelled in the second half," Schuele said, referring to the Annapolis game. "Our defense matured in this game."

Annapolis scored first, getting on the board in the second quarter on fullback Gary Tessmar's one-yard plunge. That TD capped a 60-yard drive.

Annapolis quarterback Jim Peters tossed to Mark White for the two-point conversion.

Canton came back with its first tally early in the third quarter as Mark Perkins went in from the two-yard line. The touchdown was set up by Doug Smith's interception at the 45-yard line. Smith reached the Cougar two before he was brought down.

The Chiefs still found themselves trailing (8-6) when they failed to convert.

Another Annapolis turnover helped Canton scored what proved to be the decisive touchdown. With 6:24 left in the third quarter Tom Powell recovered an Annapolis fumble at midfield and Perkins used the miscue to score. He took the team to the 14-yard line where he dashed off-tackle to go the rest of the way.

Perkins' pass to Mark Hutton for the two-point conversion again failed to find the mark.

With 1:32 remaining in the game, the Chiefs scored an insurance touchdown which culminated a long drive that featured 12 plays. Perkins raced in from the two for the six-points.

Canton, which lost the battle of statistics, compiled 158 yards for its rushing game. It had eight first downs to Annapolis 11. Annapolis picked up 71 yards on the ground and 60 from its aerial assault.

Jim Meadows was the Chiefs' leading rusher with 52 yards in seven carries. Ron Craig, an end, and center Johnny Young, sparked "a vastly improved Canton offensive line," while "nose-man" Tom Powell and linebacker Jerry Simon, along with Randy Renius led the Chiefs' defensive unit.

Romulus gridders on MSU roster

Ed Abbott, a 1976 graduate of Romulus High School, is a member of the Michigan State football team.

He is currently practicing with the Spartans as they prepare for Big Ten wars. Abbott is in the running for a middle guard spot and seems to be learning the new MSU defensive system quickly.

Abbott earned 10 letters while at Romulus High, four in wrestling, two in track and four in football. He was an all-district selection during his final two seasons of high school ball. As a grappler, Ed also captured all-district honors.

His classroom work placed him in the top 20 percent of his high school class. Ed held membership in the National Honor Society. He hopes to major in business administration at State. And, after graduation, continue on in law school.

Ed is the son of Mrs. Lillie Abbott, 7463 Merriman in Romulus.

AUTO FACTS

By Chester Kosin

Back in 1910, a motorist would race his engine vigorously just before he turned off the ignition switch. "There," he would say, "that makes it easier to turn her on the next time." Back then motorists believed that this final revving would pull in raw gasoline, and prime the cylinders so that they would fire right way. It turns out that priming the cylinders with raw gasoline this way also washed the protective film of oil from the cylinders, but at 25 miles per hour top speed, it was not all that important.

It is important to make sure that your car, foreign or domestic, is ready for cold weather driving! Visit KOSIN'S AUTO PARTS, 24831 Michigan, Inkster, for the parts and accessories you need to keep it running at its best. We offer fast, friendly and expert counter service and our knowledgeable staff will be happy to help you select those parts best suited for your particular car. Our inventory includes all parts for foreign and domestic cars. We also have a complete machine shop service for grinding valves, turning brake drums, etc. Call us at 563-3894. We are open daily until 8 P.M., Saturdays until 5 P.M.

More than 21 golfers took part in the two-day tournament.

Bill Hill's 169 stood up for top honors in the first flight while Tim Raymond finished second with 171. Over in the second flight, Jeff Kelley put together rounds of 103 and 91 to win the first place trophy. In second place, with 197 was Jim Stockman.

MEMO TO: REAL ESTATE SALESPEOPLE

Do you feel that you are not given enough floor time? Do you feel that the company you work for does not spend enough money advertising? Have you given thought to the benefits of joining a company that is active in equity buying thus giving you an opportunity to obtain more listings as well as sharing in the equity profits?

These questions (plus many others) are well worth thinking about. Our present floor has only 7 full time salespersons and our feelings have always been that in order for one to make money they must be given a full opportunity on the floor with enough hours so as to get calls and leads to permit high earnings.

If you feel that you would like to discuss our program, please call Steve Barrer or Lew Grossman for a confidential appointment.

September is the time for excitement, fun and changes. You hear the roar of the crowd cheering on their favorite football team.

Delight in the laughter of children coming home from school and watch the trees turn from green to gold, red and brown like an artist preparing for his great debut.

You still have time to make your change... from a large home to a smaller one or a small one to a larger one. From a city home to a country home or a ranch to a colonial.

We're not as clever as mother nature, but the "friendly folks" at Keim can help you make a smooth transition.

Chatham wins lowest food price survey, again.

SUPPLEMENT TO ASSOCIATED NEWSPAPERS AND YPSILANTI PRESS

Proof we're thinking of you.

Which supermarket chain has the lowest food prices? An independent research company set out to get the answer. The result. Chatham was proved to have the lowest prices on the food you buy most.

Shopping was done over a four-week period. And each week over 100 items were checked, meats, frozen foods, produce, canned goods . . . the items you buy most. All major chains were compared in the survey. When the bills were added up, the survey proved that you get more food for your money at Chatham.

For survey summary, write: National Market Research, 120 Route 9 W, Englewood Cliffs, N.J. 07632.

IF YOU HAVE ANY QUESTIONS ABOUT FOOD...
ASK BOBBIE

THINGS YOU'VE ALWAYS WANTED TO KNOW ABOUT MEAT

Should meat be pierced before marinating it?

No. A French chef would be horror-stricken at the very idea of making holes in the meat and allowing all the natural juices to escape. With meat tenderizers, you are instructed to pierce the meat in order to help the tenderizer penetrate the flesh. But that's a long way from a marinade.

Should you season meats before or after cooking?

Opinions differ. Chefs salt and pepper before, in the belief the meat is then properly seasoned; others claim the salt tends to draw moisture to the cut surface and delays browning.

Should you sear meats before roasting?

There are two schools: the sear and non-sear. The National Live Stock and Meat Board is "non-sear," but many fine cooks and chefs always sear. The theory behind searing is that it seals in the juices, although the Meat Board says, "Seared meat loses fat rather than juices."

To cook roasts by the searing method: Place the roast, fat side up, in an open roasting pan, in a preheated 450° F. oven, for 20 to 25 minutes, then reduce heat to 300° F. (open the oven door for a few minutes to cool it off) and continue roasting for the required length of time. Do not cover; do not add water.

To cook roasts without searing: Place roast, fat side up, in an open roasting pan, in a preheated 325° F. oven. Do not cover; do not add water. Roast for the required length of time.
